

RELEASE NEGRO WHO WAS NEAR LYNCHED

GEO. PRICE, SAVED BY SHERIFF TILLEY, EXONERATED BY TYLER GRAND JURY.

Closes Incident of Mob That Rode Up the Hill and Then Walked Down Again.

George Price, the negro who had it not been for the vigilance and foresight of Sheriff George Tilley, of McLennan county, would probably have been lynched here two weeks ago, was Friday released from custody at San Antonio, according to advices received in the city yesterday. The report stated that Price was exonerated by the grand jury in Tyler.

Tire of Walking.
The negro was implicated in the assault of a young lady in the Smith county town. Following the burning of the stake of Dan Davis, who confessed to the crime in Tyler, Price was implicated by Davis before he died. The following night more than 200 enraged citizens of Tyler boarded a train and came to Waco with the avowed intention of burning the negro. A rumor to the effect that the alleged mob was Waco-bound reached Sheriff Tilley, who immediately spirited the object of its vengeance to San Antonio, where he has since remained.

The would-be lynchers, furnished considerable amusement and so little sensation during their brief stay in Waco, when they attempted to "beat" the Cotton Belt train back to Tyler, and the tall timber. Officers, both city and county, were stationed at the depot and thus the near-cashion "warfare" was followed again in their intentions.

Had a Close Call.
Tired, weary and footsore, the mob decided to count the ties back home, and accordingly hit the rail. At Mt. Cain, a small town about 30 miles from this city, the small army drew up, and it was then that money sufficient for transportation was forwarded from the home town. Now that Price is free, this is probably the closing chapter in the story of "The Tyler Mob that rode up the hill and walked down again."

The Constitution of Oklahoma Adopted By Foo Chow, China

By The Associated Press.
Tulsa, Okla., June 8.—The Oklahoma constitution has been adopted by the state of Foo Chow, China, according to a statement made here today by the Rev. John C. Magee of Tulsa, who gives Jas. W. Bashford, D. D., Methodist Episcopal bishop for China, now in this country, as authority for the story. Shortly after the triumph of the Chinese revolutionaries, Bishop Bashford was requested to loan the revolutionists a copy of some state constitution in this country. An American merchant at Peking came to the front with a copy of Oklahoma's constitution and it was copied almost in its entirety by the state of Foo Chow, according to the story, the main exception being the insertion of the word "opium" instead of "intoxicating liquors" in the 21 year prohibition clause of the Oklahoma constitution. Foo Chow was the storm center of the recent revolution and it is said the other Chinese states will follow the example of that state in framing their constitutions.

BOODLERS DISMAYED BY WILSON'S ACTION.
By The Associated Press.
Atlantic City, N. J., June 8.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson's participation in the present councilmanic graft investigation to the extent of leading all the state aid possible to those who are prosecuting the inquiry has given encouragement to the reform element here that is deep in the task of endeavoring to "clean" the municipal government.

Four of the best citizens of the city appointed by Mayor Bacharach to fill the vacancies caused by the resignation of the four councilmen who refused to accept bribes to vote for the "concrete board walk" ordinance, took their place at the last meeting of the city's governing body, in the presence of the largest crowd that has ever attended a council meeting.

Soldiers Also Lose Faith in Him. He Is Being Placed for Madero's Place.

By The Associated Press.
Mexico City, June 8.—To depose Orozco and continue the revolution until some other military chieftain with the ultimate purpose of returning Francisco L. De La Barra to the presidency is the latest plan of the "cientificos" according to information which has reached administration officials.

Federico Gonzalez Garza, secretary to President Madero, is authorized for the statement that from advices received it appears there is much dissatisfaction among those who have been financing the revolution, as well as among the rank and file. Orozco's management of the word "opium" instead of "intoxicating liquors" in the 21 year prohibition clause of the Oklahoma constitution. Foo Chow was the storm center of the recent revolution and it is said the other Chinese states will follow the example of that state in framing their constitutions.

To his followers in the field he is said to have promised the privilege of sacking Torreón, and his failure to deliver over that city has weakened the faith formerly reposed in him by his army. The poor showing made against the advancing federalists is said to have disgusted the revolutionary financiers with his alleged military genius.

Who his successor was to be under the new plan was not known to Secretary Gonzalez Garza, nor did he believe that De La Barra was informed of or in sympathy with the alleged designs of the revolutionaries to depose him. Since his return to Mexico the ex-president has carefully avoided becoming a disturbing element.

"This is the first that I have heard of it," were the words of De La Barra when approached on the subject by an Associated Press representative today. It is safe to say of the fact that I have not been consulted as I presumably would have been if it were.

When asked what his attitude would be in case he were approached by the revolutionists on the subject, he said:

"I am a man of the law and, therefore, very respectful of the authority and I would in no case act against them."

HAVANA NEGROES FLEE BEFORE ANGRY MOB

BLACKS CHASED THROUGH CITY STREETS, WITH THREATS OF DEATH.

Government Fears Renewed Rioting on Wide Scale—Police Carry Machetes.

By The Associated Press.

Havana, June 8.—The aspect of racial war in the city of Havana tonight transcended in importance any news received from the field of operations. Rumors current during the day of the intention of the mob to make an onslaught on the negroes in the capital induced President Gomez to issue a proclamation tonight urging mutual moderation and threatening all disturbers of the peace with the most severe punishment.

At 9:30, the moment the proclamation was issued from the presidential palace, a mob composed of many thousands of young men of the better class and including many students, had gathered in central park and were shouting "Down with the negroes."

Within two minutes after the outbreak all the negroes, bootblack and newsboys had disappeared from view.

Brandish Guns and Knives.
The crowd rapidly increased in proportion, as the evening wore on. Practically all of the demonstrators were armed and many were openly brandishing revolvers or knives. At one time a panic ensued, as the result of a shot fired by a police captain as a signal to his men.

The mob during the evening, shouting, "lynch the negroes," gave chase to every negro who happened to pass in the vicinity of Central Park. A strong force of foot and mounted police was hastened to the scene of the disorders and order eventually was restored, the mob gradually dispersing in various directions, apparently in search of negroes who had taken refuge in their homes.

Grave fears are entertained in Havana that the anti-negro rioting will be renewed on an extensive scale. The government is making every preparation to cope with any emergency. The principal hotels and cafes on the square have locked their doors and the storm shutters have been put on the windows.

Beginning tonight all the police of Havana are armed with long new machetes, discarding their clubs. Race rioting among the longshoremen, which began last night, was resumed this afternoon. One negro was killed. The police finally restored order.

Look to U. S. For Aid.
The opinion is becoming very general that it is hopeless to expect the government to crush the insurgent forces in Oriente, despite general Montaguado's assurance that he expects to crush the rebellion within three weeks.

The question most frequently heard everywhere is, "Who will be the American governor general?" The impression is that in the event of such an appeal becoming necessary it would probably fall to General Wood.

As indicative of the bitter feeling of the whites against the negroes the editors of several of the most prominent papers have agreed not to publish any news of negro clubs or racial gatherings.

A Candidate For Sheriff Is Given Sentence In Pen

A sheriff, who at the time of election was serving a term in the state penitentiary, may be the puzzling problem which will confront Taylor county, should Felix R. Jones be elected, and the verdict of a jury sustained.

The trial of Jones was concluded in San Angelo Friday, according to City Officer Alva Tilley, who yesterday returned from the Tom Green county metropolis, where he was called as a witness in the case. Tilley and former Constable Guy McNamara arrested Jones about two years ago.

The prisoner was charged with theft in connection with the alleged disappearance of diamonds from the H. D. Leffel's jewelry store, San Angelo. He was convicted at the recent trial and sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary. During the trial it became known that Jones was a candidate for sheriff of Taylor county, a neighboring county to where his trial took place.

According to the officer, Jones still maintains that he will continue the race, in spite of the fact that two years in the penitentiary hang over his head. If the verdict of the jury stands, and Jones is elected to the office to which he aspires he is reported to have said that he would run the office by proxy. Jones is well known in Waco.

THEFT NOT TEST OF REGULARITY SAYS COLONEL

APPEALS TO REPUBLICANS TO PROTEST AGAINST COMMITTEE'S DECISION.

Declares Election Officials Sent to Penitentiary for Less Criminal Acts.

By The Associated Press.

Oyster Bay, June 8.—The republicans of the country were called upon tonight by Colonel Roosevelt to protest against the action of the republican national committee in ruling on the contest for seats in the national convention from the Ninth Alabama district. He declared that every man who wished to see the party continue to exist should protest at once "against those who are deliberately trying to wreck it."

"The leaders," said the colonel, "speak as if they were the regular republicans. I do not concede that theft is a test of regularity."

Col. Roosevelt was in constant touch over his private wire during the day with his lieutenants in Chicago and a number of his supporters visited him. Roosevelt's statement follows:

Appeals to Party.
In view of the action taken by the national committee yesterday in unseating the two duly elected delegates in the Ninth Alabama district and replacing them by men who have no more title to sit where the republican convention than to sit in the democratic convention, I would like to make as serious an appeal as is in my power to every good citizen who regards the republican party as an instrument for good government which it is wicked lightly to destroy.

Alabama is entitled to 24 delegates in the convention. As regards several of the districts where there have been contests it is my sincere belief that the right was as much on our side as on the side of our opponents. But in these districts there was room for honest doubt, and talking the matter over with Senator Dixon, we both agreed to advise the Roosevelt members of the national committee to support no contest in any district where there was room for reasonable doubt as to the right of the Roosevelt delegates to be seated. All of the Roosevelt committeemen voted for the Alabama delegates to be seated for Taft, and this in spite of the fact that, as I have already said, we regard the claims of the Roosevelt men in certain of these districts as being as good as those of our opponents.

"But is the ninth Alabama district two Roosevelt delegates had been unquestionably elected. The facts are as follows:
The republican committee of this district, composed of 30 members, met to call the convention. Eighteen members were favorable to my candidacy, 12 to Mr. Taft's. The Taft men conceded that this was the regular district committee and began by participating in the meeting but as soon as it developed that the Roosevelt men were in the majority those 12 Taft men left the meeting and called a convention of their own, leaving 18 members a clear majority of the regular committee to call the regular convention in which the Roosevelt delegates were named. No serious evidence was presented before the national committee to contravene these facts.

Basis For Contests.
The contest against these two regularly elected Roosevelt delegates had literally no foundation whatever, even of the most flimsy description. There was no more ground for unseating these delegates than there would be, for example, in unseating the Taft delegates from Rhode Island or in any district in any state where there is no contest whatever. Yet the national committeemen who are supporting Mr. Taft voted to unseat the two men properly elected and to seat in the national convention two men who, as I have said, literally have no more right to appear as delegates in that convention than they have to appear in the democratic convention. They represent

With opposing negro attorneys presenting the questions of regularity in Florida and Georgia, and with the Taft and Roosevelt contest managers asserting their opinions in vigorous language as to the character of southern republicanism, the day's session took on an interest that held the committee closely.

Are of Legal Character.
The Georgia contests were of a distinctly legal character. I Ormsby McKim, the Roosevelt attorney, contended that the Taft conventions had been held at a time and under a call that could not be legal, because the annual registration lists had not been approved. This contention was denied by the Taft delegates. Their negro attorneys furnished, however, but part of the argument. The Taft forces, led by Henry L. Johnson, a negro attorney of Atlanta, whose argument was frequently applauded by the committee members, characterized the Roosevelt contests in Georgia as "after thoughts" and declared

Announcements In Popularity Contest Cause a Sensation

The sensation of the day is the big Popularity Contest in which a number of very valuable prizes will be given away by Waco's three leading and popular theatres, the Alamo, Dixie and Cozy. Over fifty prizes aggregating a grand total of $15,000.00 will be given away absolutely free to Waco's popular ones through votes given in connection with admission tickets for these three theatres.

The first grand prize will be the Alamo theatre complete as it stands. This theatre costs over $8,000.00 and is a good paying investment. Any one winning it has a good income made. Should the lucky one desire it, the owners of the theatre will give them $5,000.00 in cash for the theatre if they should so prefer. The lease of this theatre has four years yet to run at a very nominal rental and has a very complete plant, including everything necessary in an up-to-date and first-class theatre. A little effort for a few short months work is going to win this prize.

The second grand prize is an $1,800 Jackson automobile. This car is fully equipped, a self-starter, is electric-lighted, 45 horsepower, 5 passenger touring car. It has a windshield and all accessories that a first-class automobile should have. This car is the finest car in the market and is the best car ever given away in this part of Texas in a popularity contest. This prize will go to the one securing the second highest number of votes and is worth striving for to win. The car can be seen at the Austin Avenue garage, corner Ninth and Austin, or in the lobby of the Alamo theatre, where it will be on display nearly every evening. Any one desiring any information regarding car technique can secure same from the agent, Mr. F. O. Arnold, at the Austin Avenue garage, where he will cheerfully demonstrate the merits of this America's premier car.

Another big prize, the one for organizations, is a choice of three of the best pianos on the market today. Either one of these instruments is valued at $600.00 by the Leyhe Piano company, Austin avenue. These instruments are the finest and the best in the market for the money and are the auto-piano full 80 note player and are sufficiently well known to need no encomiums from us. The Chickering is a piano with a world-wide reputation, and the Bush & Lane is also known by most of you. The choice of either one of these pianos goes to the organization which nominates a contestant who poles highest number of votes in this division. Every organization should try hard to place one of these fine instruments in their club, lodge, or meeting rooms. Societies, clubs, schools, churches, organizations and lodges are eligible to nominate a contestant to compete for this prize.

In pursuance of promises made by contest manager that he would announce the additional prizes as the contest proceeds, four new prizes are announced today which consist of:

First—A diamond ring to the most popular unmarried lady in Waco. This fine prize comes from Golding's, the jeweler, at 413 Austin avenue, by whom it is guaranteed and whose reputation in the community is sufficient guarantee of this premium. It will be displayed in his window where it can be seen at any time. Any single girl between the ages of fifteen (15) to fifty (50) is eligible to compete for this prize.

Two very fine prizes are the two scholarships for high school students, one a full business course, including books, etc., for boy students; the other a full course in stenography for the girl students. This course includes shorthand, dictation, typewriting and all books necessary for a full and complete course. These scholarships will be given at Toby's Business college, one of the best of business colleges in America, and the two lucky students that win these prizes have won something of real value. A business education is one of the most valuable prizes that could possibly be given away to a young lady or man.

Another dandy prize is the school girls' prize. This is a handsome, hand-engraved gold watch, with either Elgin or Waltham movements, at the option of the winner. This prize is a beauty and there will certainly be competition amongst Waco's popular school girls for this prize. This prize is displayed and guaranteed by Armstrong & Pfaffle, 625 Austin avenue. Girls, look at it in their window and put in your nominations to win this handsome memento of your friends.

Many more prizes will be announced in the course of a few days. There will be plenty of prizes for every one, both very valuable and useful.

On another page of this issue you will find a half-page display advertisement giving full details together with a nomination coupon which is good for double votes. Now is the time to get busy. Tell your friends that you are out to win several of these prizes and get them to help. All organizations should take the matter up at their next meeting and nominate their choice of a contestant and boost for him or her. Any one desiring any further knowledge can get same by applying at Contest Headquarters over the Dixie theatre, or by ringing up No. 2355 either phone.

Start now. Delay may mean the losing of the big prizes. The contest starts June 15, 1912. In case of a tie prizes will be equally divided.

Are Men As Big Bargain Fiends As the Women?

"I will never laugh at the ladies again for being bargain hunters," said the man with a twinkle in his eye, as he rested his arm gracefully on the polished mahog and his foot on the brass rail. "Comic papers have made a joke of it for years, and the average man believes that the dry goods store has only to take a $4 skirt and mark it $4.98 to sell it as a rare bargain."

"But I'm thinking now that the ladies are not the only ones who like to save money. I dropped into the Hill store, next to the Amicable building, this morning and when I left I looked like a Santa Claus, an auto truck and an express wagon all in one—I was so loaded down with bundles."

"Funny part of it was, I went in there to get a handkerchief. My wife had forgotten to give me one, and, as is usually the case, as soon as I found out I didn't have one, I needed it very badly. So Hill's being the closest place, I went in there."

"The first thing I saw was a pile of underwear that I knew was usually sold at a certain price, but the price marked on it was so much lower than the one I usually paid that I immediately bought several garments. Well, to make a long story short, I never did get the handkerchief, but I bought about everything else one could think of."

"But the funniest part was the scolding I got from my wife when I got home. And this scolding was particularly pointed because I had, on various occasions accused her of being a bargain fiend."

SAYS RATES DISCRIMINATORY.

Washington, June 8.—It was alleged before the Interstate commerce commission today that prevailing freight rates particularly on cotton from western points to Owensboro were "discriminatory" against Owensboro in favor of Cincinnati and New York. The attack was directed against the Illinois Central, the Louisville and Nashville and other lines by business interests of Owensboro, which is an important gateway to the south and southeast. An investigation will be made by the commission.

SEND BEER ON HANDCARS.

New York, June 8.—The beer supply of the fishermen of Ramblersville, a resort on the northern shore of Jamaica Bay, came up for consideration recently at a hearing before Commissioner G. V. S. Williams of the public service commission, on the application of the Long Island railroad to shift its station 450 yards farther to the north. In winter there are only 500 permanent residents, but in summer as many as 5000 visitors swell its population, and the railroad company is prepared to erect a regular freight station there.

tion, and the railroad company is prepared to erect a regular freight station there.

William O. Miles, a representative of the Howard Estates Development company, was asked by Commissioner Williams:

"I was wondering now you get your beer?"

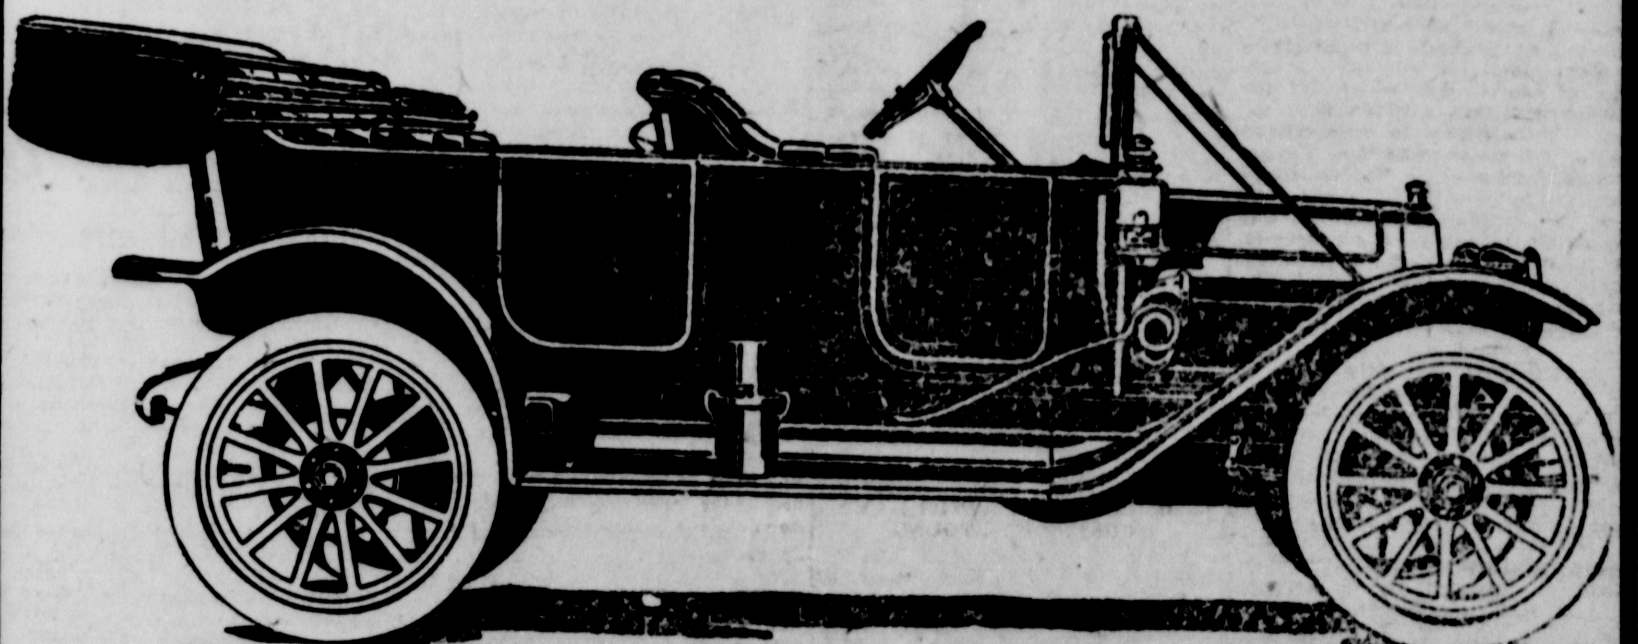

"On hand cars," put in Mr. Hatzleitch. "We get it all right—almost as much beer as water."

A NOTICEABLE FACT

ABOUT THE

E. M. F. 30 and the FLANDERS 20 CARS is that they are the predominating cars; both in numbers and in technical records, in different parts of the country where only REAL GOOD CARS will stand up and do the work.

The E. M. F. and Flanders cars stand the test. Then too, they have the speed; and at the same time they are built along classical lines and are cars of beauty.

You can make no mistake in selecting either of these cars for pleasure or for business use. A demonstration will gladly be given you at your most convenient time.

NECROPOLIS OF HELIOPOLIS REVEALED

FORMER CENTER OF EGYPTIAN CULTURE UNARTHED BY LABORERS OF DANINON PASHA.

Gigantic Sphinx Made of Alabaster and Weighing 80 Tons Dug Up At Memphis.

By The Associated Press.

London, June 8.—The archaeological excavations under the direction of Daninos Pasha have now fully revealed the Necropolis of Heliopolis, which was the intellectual center of Egypt for over four thousand years, and the place where Moses received the sacerdotal and military training which enabled him to lead the Israelites out of their Egyptian bondage.

The Necropolis is situated in the desert a trifle more than three miles eastward of the Matarieh Obelisk. The burial places cut from the rocks of the Arabian range were from 65 to 230 feet deep. They were covered with sand, the removal of which revealed mummies of human bodies and the skeletons of sacred animals and birds. Undamaged ibis eggs were also found. Unfortunately these tombs had been ransacked years ago by nomads and Arabs hunting for treasure, and only about five or six per cent of them had escaped the ravages of the treasure seekers.

A pillar has been found decorated with the black bull anubis, and this indicates what the excavators hope will prove to be in the newly discovered Necropolis, a Maeviseum, which is sure to contain objects and documents of the greatest interest. Daninos Pasha is now devoting all of his energies to uncovering this Maeviseum.

The British School of Archaeology has also been making some interesting discoveries as the result of their excavations in the desert. At Memphis the excavators for the school uncovered a gigantic sphinx, made of alabaster and weighing 80 tons. This sphinx, which is in a perfect state of preservation, was carved and erected about 1200 B.C.

At Heliopolis the school excavators uncovered an earthen fortress with walls over one hundred feet thick, enclosing a rounded square a quarter of a mile in diameter. It is not Egyptian work and probably dates back to the early barbaric invasion.

Central Arabia, which has been as unknown to the white man as the polar regions, has given up its secrets to M. Barclay Haunaker, who has reported to the Royal Geographical Society that he arrived at Muscat in Oman on May 4, after a perilous trip through the interior Arabian deserts.

Only meagre details of the trip have been received by the society, but these give the members reason for believing that the exploring expedition has been highly successful.

The explorer left Copenhagen last November, but his real explorations did not begin until he reached Basra from Bagdad in January of this year. Through the assistance of the Vah of Basra he was able to continue his journey to Koweit, where he was the guest of the regent M. Harek. At this place he made his final plans for his dash across the unknown deserts. He chose to go through the desert via the oases of Beradia and Riad in the heart of Central Arabia, inhabited by the Wahab, and thence eastward through the oasis of Mofat to the coast. That he succeeded in this dangerous plan is indicated by his messages to the society.

The explorer in the message received speaks of the excellent results which he obtained from his anthropological, zoological and botanical observations. M. Haunaker is now proceeding to Bombay, whence he will sail for Copenhagen, where he is expected this month.

DALLAS ROAD IN GOOD SHAPE FOR MOTOR TRIP

Waco motorists will take advantage of the good condition of the Dallas road today to motor to the North Texas metropolis. Among the parties will be Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Randle, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Cooper.

E. W. Marshall also will start for Dallas today in his automobile. He goes to attend the state meeting of insurance agents and will be accompanied by I. Friedlander, Adrian Moore and Mr. Lyle.

THE ONLY KEY.

"And where, my fellow citizens, appealed the political speaker, 'can we find an instrument so fit, so delicate, so adjustable and at the same time so unassuming and popular that it will unlock every department of state for the benefit of the people.'"

"The harp!" shrieked an enthusiastic suffragist in the audience.

BLOOMERITES INVITED TO CHURCH BY EVANGELIST

HE INSISTS THEY MUST WEAR FEMININE APPAREL WHEN THEY ATTEND.

The bloomer girl ball game still furnishes interest at the revival. Evangelist Ham read several telegrams and communications and passed humorous remarks on them.

"The manager claims the team will be 'broke' if they don't get to play the Waco game. Well, I want to say that I want to see them go out of business. If you want to know what I'm after I tell you it's this whole Sunday ball business."

"Some folks say I'm advertising that game. Let me tell you that it never hurts to advertise. If it's good it will help it; if it's bad it will kill it to turn the light on. If that crowd does come to Waco I want to invite them to come out to church—but they must wear women's clothes."

"People who have made a lie their refuge were the target for the preacher's hot shots against evil. Some of his remarks were:

"The hottest cell in hell is awaiting the man who stands outside the church ridiculing God's people."

"Some folks who have had a slight taste of knowledge think it is a sign of intellectuality to doubt. You think God will excuse you because you 'can't believe' any more than you'll be saved from a burning house because you didn't believe it was afire."

"All infidelity and skepticism is spelled sin. You can't spell sin without the hiss of the serpent."

"Some folks say they are sincere in their belief, being all safe. Suppose you pour carbolic acid on your wheat cakes, believing it to be maple syrup and see if it's all right."

"There will be no soul standing in the presence of God in heaven who didn't come in through the blood of Jesus Christ."

"Some have made their refuge, the old lie, 'There are so many hypocrites in the church.' You think that hypocrite is awfully little fellow, but he's bigger than you are or else you couldn't hide behind him."

"Hypocrites are the highest compliment to the church. For it shows they know it's best to be a Christian and if they can't be a genuine one they will be an imitation."

Two great crowds will be at the tabernacle today. The 3:30 p. m. meeting is for everybody today. At 7:30 p. m. there will be probably the most attractive service of all. Monday will be rest day. Services will continue all the week.

DOCTORS AGREE NOT TO USE CHLOROFORM

MOVEMENT STARTED TO CEASE USE IN OPERATIONS OR OTHER CASES AS HARMFUL.

Special to The Morning News.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 8.—Chloroform, ether and cocaine will soon pass out of general usage by the medical profession if the movement which was started today at the sixty-third annual meeting of the American Medical Association meets with the favor that was apparent as soon as the report of the committee on anaesthesia was filed.

This committee was composed of such eminent surgeons as Dr. Yandell Henderson of Connecticut, Dr. Thomas S. Cullen of Baltimore, Dr. T. W. Huntington of San Francisco, Dr. E. Denegree Martin of New Orleans and Dr. Fred T. Murphy of St. Louis. These men are all prominent in the affairs of the association and they have the courage of their convictions in that anything which they say will of necessity have great weight with the profession.

In their report the use of chloroform is characterized as absolutely unjustifiable and they cite numerous incidents where the patients have died the second day or so after an operation and where the doctors have said that the operation was a success, but the patient died of other causes.

They also point out that ether should never be used without oxygen and that there is no occasion for such a sleep producer, now that newer methods have been discovered. Cocaine, ward of all anaesthetics, has made a race of fiends that are constantly looking to the man who first gave them their taste as the one who is responsible for their downfall.

FREE KINDERGARTEN

IS ESTABLISHED HERE

BEAUTIFUL SUBURBAN HOME TO BE CONVERTED INTO DAY NURSERY FOR YOUNG.

That the children of mothers, who are compelled to work away from home to provide their families with the necessities of life, and the more unfortunate motherless children may receive the advantages of an education, and be cared for at the same time, Mrs. L. A. St. John announces that she has provided a free kindergarten, which is to be located in a beautiful suburban home, and which will be under the direction of competent nurses and teachers. Those who wish to avail themselves of the free kindergarten are requested to call upon Mrs. St. John, 510 Franklin street, and register. The new movement is receiving the hearty support of the general public, and is destined to be a great success.

MILLER PITCHES SWELL GAME NAVS WIN

THREE CONSECUTIVE 1 TO 6 DEFEATS FOR BEAUMONT OILERS.

Duguey Gets Obstreperous, Is Chased, and Line-Up Receives Shaking.

Special to The Morning News.

Beaumont, June 8.—Vic Miller pitched almost as good a game for Waco today as did Ogle Friday, and as a result the Oilers dropped their third straight game by the same score, 1 to 6. Miller pitched to only thirty batters, allowing two hits and two walks, and struck out seven men. At no stage of the game was he in trouble, but he seemed to tighten up even more with men on bases. In the ninth Manager Wheeler, in an effort to start something, sent in three pinch hitters to bat for men on the top of the batting order, but it was no use.

In the second inning Duguey objected to a decision by Umpire Eldridge and was shooed from the park. Outfielder Stewart was sent to second, Reilly to the field, and Carson, who was laying off, behind the bat.

Brandt also was effective, pitching good enough to win almost any ordinary game, but the luck-break was against him. The score:

 Houston, June 8.—Brilliant base running that stretched singles into doubles, a costly wild pitch by Pate, and timely hits by Newnam and Britton, gave Houston three runs today, just enough to win. Rose was in great form and only one Dallas run was made off his work. The Giants scored in the ninth on Forsythe's long single, which got by Landreth. Tullos doubled with two out, but Blinke could not deliver the necessary hit. The score:

Ayers kept his hits scattered, while Crabbie was reached in the ninth. Midkiff's hitting was a feature, as was the fielding of Wallace.  Galveston, June 8.—The pitching of Morton was largely responsible for the defeat of the Austin Senators here this afternoon by a score of 2 to 1. The game should have been a shutout for Morton, who allowed only three hits up to the ninth inning. Austin's one run being made in that session on a wild throw. DEEP SEA FISHES.

A case containing models of certain species of fishes that live in the depths of the sea one or two miles below the surface where no light penetrates has been added to the series of fishes in the American Museum of Natural History. Many of the fishes are provided with a special phosphorescent organs arranged along the sides or in some cases at the ends of filaments like minute lanterns on long poles to light the sea bottom to lure prey. These models represent some of the remarkable forms which have been obtained in the course of the work of the steamer Albatross and other vessels equipped for deep sea dredging.

They were purchased from the modeler who made the original series for the British museum and have been altered according to researches of Dr. Bashford Dean and in part re-colored by museum artists.

Among other specimens now represented in the exhibition are the rare and curious "ghost fishes," the Chinese spoonbill sturgeon, now for the first time modeled, and a habitat group of the American spoonbill. This group represents a school of these large fishes and is one of the results of the Dodge expedition of two years ago.—New York Sun.

BREAK WORLD'S RECORDS IN OLYMPIC TRYOUTS

Cambridge, Mass., June 8.—The American team to the sixth Olympiad of modern times at Stockholm will be materially strengthened by the 18 eastern athletes, winners today in the Harvard stadium. New world's records were established in the 1500 and 10,000 meter runs and the pole vault the 100-meter dash was equalled and winners of the 800 meter and several field events seemed capable of more extended efforts.

OUTFIELDER TONY THEBO RELEASED BY BEAUMONT.

Says He Is Through With Baseball for Good; Played With Most of Texas League Teams.

Outfielder Tony Thebo was given his release yesterday by the Beaumont Oilers and left last night for his home in Dallas. Thebo said before he left that he was through with baseball and that he did not expect to again don a baseball uniform. He has played with nearly every team in the Texas league since he began his career about ten years ago. At one time Tony was the best stealer in the league. He has always been a star outfielder, but his hitting has been spotty. For a time he would have a batting streak and then struck a slump. He was a favorite on and off the field with the fans.—Bea

Greatest Bargain Event of the Entire Year—Our 26th Annual

June Marked-Down Sale

$250,000 Worth of New, Seasonable Merchandise During This Great Combination 15-Day Selling Event at the Lowest Prices Ever Known in Texas Begins Tomorrow Morning at 8:30 o'Clock

Tomorrow morning at 8:30 we begin our 26th Annual 15 Days June Marked Down Sale. For 26 years, during this sale we have always shown our appreciation to the thousands of people who have stood by us and who make the wonderful growth of this store possible. This Anniversary Mark Down Sale will be greater than ever, because when our new store is completed, we want to stock it with new goods, and hence all present stocks must go.

We do not advertise any special prices this morning—
FIRST: Because everybody knows what our June Mark down Sale stands for.

SECOND: Because everything in the store in every department is reduced for this sale.

We are going to make it the greatest selling event in the history of this firm. Two big stores, loaded with the best and most stylish spring and summer merchandise and everything to be sold at a reduced price. Our force of buyers and salespeople have been busy for a long time preparing for this sale. And all over our two stores, in every nook and corner, thousands of bargains will confront you tomorrow morning that will prove our assertion that this will be the greatest Mark Down Sale ever held in Texas.

The building pictured here is an exact reproduction of a drawing of our new store when completed. It is the realization and the plans of 26 years of intense and earnest effort—the culmination of the hopes of a lifetime. It will stand for years as one of the landmarks of the city—one of the interesting places to visit.

1886 marks the beginning of the struggle for mercantile supremacy. Starting with little capital in a small store in which the proprietors were clerks, cashiers, wrappers, janitors, bookkeepers, the business has grown steadily and surely, founded on a knowledge of the public needs, and with the one concentrated effort to give the best service, the best merchandise, the lowest possible price.

In the new store, 75,000 square feet of floor space will be given over to retail merchandising. Over 250 employees will be needed to carry on the business. Two new electric passenger elevators will be installed—an electric freight elevator. All modern conveniences for the shopping public will be arranged. At the beginning of improvements $35,000 was set aside for expenditure, but as the plans unfolded, this amount gradually expanded until now $135,000 will scarcely cover the cost of the building we are erecting for Wacoans and the general public.

EVERY ARTICLE IN BOTH STORES MARKED DOWN

We want you to fully realize the great importance of this sale. Every article in two stores marked down, except, of course, a few contract goods, on which we are not allowed to cut price. Aside from this, all other goods reduced from 10 to 50 per cent. It's just simply a wonderful chance to save money—big money—on all your summer needs for months to come.

Remember, the June Marked Down Sale goes on in both stores. In our old building, at 6th and Austin, the Marked Down Sale of Ladies' and Children's Ready-to-Wear; corsets, gloves, hosiery, dress goods, silks, toilet goods, jewelry, millinery, shoes and notions. In our Annex, at 7th and Austin, the Marked Down Sale of Men's and boys' clothing, carpets, rugs and draperies.

The Goldstein-Migel Co., Assisted by the Undersigned Corps of Buyers and Managers of the various departments, resolved weeks ago to make this the most remarkable sale ever held in Waco—to sell out all summer stocks during this event. Each and every one are full of enthusiasm for the new building going up. Each and every one are impressed with the new store we are building here. Each and every one realizes that without the public's favor this big store could never be built, and hence the slogan has gone forth—Everything to be marked cheaper than ever for this, our 26th Annual June Marked Down Sale. Each department has secured extra salespeople and each and every one of us herewith invite you to attend this sale. Come early and buy often—come every day, because in addition to the fact that we have marked down every item in our store, we shall offer extra special bargains every day. Come and buy liberally.

SUMMER SEASON AT BAYLOR IS PROMISING

EARLY INDICATIONS POINT TO ENROLLMENT OF AT LEAST SIX HUNDRED.

Number of Distinguished Men Will Deliver Lectures—Other Baylor News.

Having just closed what is generally regarded as the most successful year in its history Baylor university will enter upon the activities of its regular summer quarter Monday morning, June 10, with an enrollment of 600, if the advance indications materialize.

Georgia Burleson hall has been fully taken, with the prospects that Brooks hall, the second dormitory for young women, will have to be opened for the summer session, and the number of mail inquiries from teachers and prospective students in general is far in excess of former years.

Dr. W. W. Phelan, head of the department of education and philosophy, is dean of the summer school and a number of the leading educators of the state will be here as instructors and lecturers before the school. Of chief interest will be the lectures of

Prof. E. T. Dutton, professor of education in Columbia university, and regarded as one of the strongest men in his line in this country. He will be here for a series of addresses at the morning chapel hour, which he will follow up in the afternoon by leading round table discussions upon the same theme, and in the evenings he will deliver popular lectures that will appeal to thinking people generally outside of the teaching profession.

Morning Lectures.

His morning lectures will be given from June 17 to 21 on the themes, "Three Aims of American Education," "The Supervision and Management of a Town or City School System," "The Education, Training and Growth of Teachers," "The Expansion, Differentiation and Adjustment of Public Education to Meet Varying Needs," and "The Mutual Obligations of the School to the Community in Promoting a Better Social Life." In the afternoons of the same week Dr. Dutton will conduct round table conferences upon these themes at 5 o'clock.

On the evenings of June 18 and 20 Dr. Dutton will deliver his popular lectures, his theme for June 18 at 8:30 in Carroll chapel being "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity in Their Present Aspects" and that for June 20 at the same hour and place being "Social and Economic Forces Making for International God Will." The public is invited to hear these addresses without charge.

Superintendent J. F. Kimball of Temple, president of the Texas State Teachers' association, will deliver a series of morning addresses, followed by the round table conferences in the afternoon, while other lecturers include Hon. F. M. Bralley, state superintendent of public instruction; Superintendent A. W. Eddins of Falls county, Special Agent J. L. Quicksall of the federal department of agriculture; Superintendent T. D. Brooks of Hillsboro and others. Rural high schools, consolidation of rural schools, economic and cultural values of education, "all the children of all the people," teaching ideals and morals in the public schools, and other questions will be among those discussed, with a great deal of attention being given to school conditions that are peculiar to Texas.

While these advantages will be afforded teachers and prospective pedagogues, representatives of all the departments in the university have been retained on the summer faculty for the convenience of students of Baylor who may care to make up any of their back work by remaining for that term. It is understood that at least twelve students will be graduated from Baylor at the end of the summer school.

Where Faculty Summers.

A number of the professors and instructors will not be in the city during the summer. Prof. J. E. Hawkins, instructor in German, has gone to Germany and will spend the next year studying in the University of Berlin and probably other institutions. Dr. Hargrove, professor of English, has gone abroad, following his recent resignation, and Prof. A. E. Wells, professor in piano, has gone to Canada for the summer. Prof. W. T. Gooch of the department of chemistry is in the University of Chicago for the summer, working toward a higher degree, and Miss Belle Kyle, instructor in painting and drawing, will spend the summer season in Chicago studios. Dr. J. B. Johnson, head of the department of mathematics, will spend the summer doing special work in Columbia university, while Dr. Lula Pace, of the department of zoology, will do special research work in Waco. Miss Dorothy Scarborough, of the department of English, will spend her vacation in Virginia; Prof. J. B. Tidwell and J. W. Harrell will do special work in connection with the various encampments over the state, and Prof. S. R.

Spencer will study in the University of Chicago.

All former members of Baylor's athletic teams who were in attendance at the university for the past several years, but who did not receive the varsity "B" in recognition of their services in that connection, have been granted this honor by the Athletic association and a beautifully engraved certificate, certifying to service on whatever team the recipient played, has been mailed the players over the signatures of the officers of the Athletic association. The certificates make beautiful souvenirs and all the old players will be delighted to receive them.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 8.—"A wave of degeneracy is sweeping the land and its development threatens the physical vitality of the nation," declared Dr. T. Alexander MacNicholl of New York, ex-surgeon of the New York Red Cross hospital, who was sent abroad by former President Roosevelt to investigate the subject of alcoholism and narcotics.

"Within a period of fifty years the population of the United States increased 330 per cent, while the number of insane and feeble-minded increased 950 per cent, according to the recent census, practically all of which is due to the chronic and excessive use of alcohol in one form or another and narcotics. Degeneracy is shown in the lessened fertility of the nation.

The doctor compared statistics collected by himself, in which he showed that of children, 90 per cent of those of abstainers were normal, as against 7 per cent of those belonging to alcohol-using parents. He declared that the degenerative taint is hereditary, and noted the fact that the tendency passes through three generations of children in ten families of drinking parents. For every child of abstaining parents that dies, five died of parents addicted to one form or another of narcotics.

NOTHING TO LIVE FOR, DELIUS SWALLOWED ACID

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, June 8.—Seemingly heartbroken at the suicide of her husband, Mrs. William F. Delius this morning sat in the front room of the little house at 1224 Sargeant street beside the body. The man took carbolic acid because she had left him one week ago. A note he left read: "Hoping I will be forgiven for this act which I will soon commit upon myself, I hereby state that I am penniless, barefooted and disappointed in my efforts to obtain work. I have a broken home, a broken heart and as I see life, there is nothing left for me to do but end it all."

Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Delius Geary, a next-door neighbor, hearing calls for a doctor, rushed in to the Delius home, to find the man lying on the floor, barely breathing. She administered antidotes and summoned a doctor, but without avail.

MILLER RIFLES WILL CELEBRATE JULY 4TH

FIELD DAY AT GURLEY PARK WILL BE FEATURED BY ATHLETIC EVENTS.

Motorcycle races, athletic events and a prospective aeroplane flight will be features of a field day to be held by the Miller Rifles at Gurley park on July 4. The company, which is officially known as company F, Second infantry, Texas National Guard, is drilling twice a week, Tuesday and Thursday nights, and expect to have everything in good shape for the fourth.

Some very important changes in the drill regulations have taken place and the company is working hard to get them down pat before it leaves for the maneuvers which are to be held this year at Alexandria, La.

It is understood that they will leave for Alexandria immediately after the field day at Gurley park.

There has been some correspondence with Harry L. Peyton with reference to securing him for some flights in his new biplane on the 4th and it is understood that there will be motorcycle races in addition to the military stunts.

WE BELIEVE IN LEADERS

AND with a good reason—for "leaders" in high class merchandise has made the big continuous success we have enjoyed for many years—in harmony with our general policy we have featured the best brands of cigars money can buy.

Of the many cigars under our control, we take pride in offering you the following selections:

Do You Enjoy

A really high-grade Mild Havana—a cigar with a strictly long filler, selected from Havana tobacco noted for its delightful mild aroma—and to maintain this fine, mild quality, the manufacturers use the finest imported Sumatra wrapper, which is neutralized (made tasteless) by a process entirely their own, giving you in actual reality a real mild Havana.

Lawrence Barrett

and we buy the finest, fullest shape the manufacturers make—its the O. K. Perfecto size at 10c straight. You have paid two-for-a-quarter many times for a cigar not nearly so good.

If Your Taste

is cultivated to a strictly high-class domestic cigar, we offer the biggest national selling brand on the market.

Biggest—because the best domestic tobaccos grown are selected and kept in the warehouse continuously for the making of this cigar.

Biggest—because the manufacturers make the

Tom Keene

after a simple, easy shape, that can always be maintained.

Biggest—because the shape of the Tom Keene always burns free—even and uniform.

Biggest—because you always get the same sweet, mild quality—whether you buy a Tom Keene in Waco, or Chicago or Seattle—or any other point on the map.

If you haven't smoked a Tom Keene lately, ask your dealer for a fresh one, and it will be a revelation for 5 cents.

HOME RULE FIGHT NOW TAME AFFAIR

MEN NOT SO DEEPLY DIVIDED AS THEY WERE IN FORMER YEARS.

Special to The Morning News.

Dublin, June 7.—Those who witnessed the home rule controversies of 1886 and 1893 must be profoundly impressed by the difference of atmosphere between then and now. In the former years heat, bitterness, genuine alarm, extending far beyond conventional party warfare, governed the proceedings in parliament and outside. Now there is party warfare in abundance, and occasional scenes may be worked up in the house of commons, but the country is not alarmed, men are not deeply divided and politicians, when they are frank, admit that their constituents cannot be stirred to any violent hostility.

It was not so in the budget of 1909, nor in the following years on the parliament bill. In both these cases strong feeling was aroused and expressed in language which, if violent, at least answered to a genuine emotion. Unionist orators may discourse upon home rule in the house of commons, but Unionist electioneers are devoting themselves to the insurance act in the constituencies, never doubting that the initial unpopularity of the contributions brings a dozen times more grist to their mill than any alarm that can be raised about the home rule bill.

The fact that violent emotion no longer can be aroused about the intention of continuing on to San Diego to resume the campaign against the street-speaking ordinance were today's developments in the so-called "free speech" campaign here.

According to Chief of Police Wilson, the workers in the jail, who termed a "human battleship," or battered ram. Taking off their shoes, they rushed up on the principal door, which kept them from freedom, and made attempts to break it down. Chief Wilson said his officers entered the room where the men were confined and stripped and searched them, finding them equipped with "bills" made from the handles of jail brooms and with small weapons constructed from steel bands, which had bound plumbing pipes to the walls.

The police say they have placed men in solitary confinement. Two workers held in the county jail for several weeks on charges of conspiracy to violate the street speaking law were released today. They were given suspended sentences of 30 days each.

that they will be effected within a few years from now. It is impossible that the imperial parliament can struggle on with the whole load of imperial legislation without losing both its dignity and efficiency, and there is no relief for it except by the way of revolution.

There are high-flying Federalists who say that we must do nothing until we can do everything. We must not have a subordinate parliament for Ireland until we can have subordinate parliaments for England and Scotland and an imperial parliament on top of them all. Very ingenious arguments can be produced on paper for doing all or nothing, and, therefore, for abolishing the "Federalists" from doing anything but opposite what the government proposes. But this, as the prime minister said, is pedantry and not statesmanship.

The statesman, at all events in this country, does not write constitutions in the air; he begins with an urgent and pressing case, and waits for opinion to ripen to the next stage. So we make a beginning with Ireland and leave the door wide open to what we believe is the logical and necessary development.

The concentration of the Unionist party upon the Ulster case is proof that they are alive to the change of opinion on home rule as a principle. At the end of the second-reading debate Ireland was left to infer that, but for Ulster, a considerable section of the Unionist party would be willing to give themselves to give home rule to Ireland, and not only to Ireland, but to other parts of the United Kingdom. There is no wish to disparage the genuineness of the Ulster objection, but it makes a very narrow ledge for resistance to a policy which otherwise is acceptable.

The Unionist party must be presumed to be the best judges of their own strategy, but the perpetual threat that a small minority will vote an act of parliament desired by the vast majority, and the revival of religious antagonisms as the ground of this objection, are not likely to appeal favorably to fair-minded people in England and Scotland.

The bill is carefully and ingeniously framed to guard the interests of the minority in Ireland, and the government has indicated its willingness to consider any reasonable amendments in this respect, and especially in regard to the composition of the second chamber.

The argument to Unionists should not be put on ground of of guarantees or safeguards. The Nationalists would ask them whether they would really, on reflection, wish to be separated from Ireland; whether they think it fair to the rest of Ireland that they should insist on their own view as final and fatal, whether they, too, will not find some satisfaction in working for the prosperity of a united Ireland. Arguments of this kind will have no success with the stalwarts of the Orange lodges, but there are an immense number of working men in Belfast who are not Orangemen and who do not share the historical animosities of the old settlers. They, if they choose, can do a vast deal to compose this quarrel.

Other Experts' Opinions Show Wid-

Furnishing Reason.

By The Associated Press.
Houston, June 8.—Thornwell Fay, president of the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio Railway Company, has issued the following statement in regard to the explosion of a boiler in the San Antonio yards on March 18:

The officials of the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio Railway company have heretofore refrained from making any public statement with respect to the causes of explosion of locomotive 704 at San Antonio, March 18, 1912, awaiting the report to be made by the inspectors of the Interstate Commerce Commission.
The report of the commission has now been received, and in order that the public may know the facts as developed by the board of inquiry composed of disinterested outsiders,
and the investigation by the officials,
the following statement is made:

The conclusion of the interstate inspectors in giving their report is as follows: "It is our conclusion that this explosion was due to excessive steam pressure, which was caused by an employee of the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio railway tightening the adjusting screws of the safety valves, resulting in an accumulation of steam pressure beyond the endurance of the boiler."

For several years the Galveston Harrisburg & San Antonio Railway company in every accident of any consequence that has occurred, has selected a board of inquiry composed of operating officers and citizens to investigate, and make unbiased reports on such accidents.
This practice was followed in this case, and a board consisting of the following gentlemen, most of whom are experts, was convened:

Col. Chas. H. Clark, ordinance department, U. S. army
Capt. Geo. A. Schreiner, U. S.
army

Lieut. R. C. Burleson, U. S.
army, expert on high explosives.

H. Holmgren, president Alamo
Iron Works, San Antonio.

G. W. Taylor, superintendent electric power, I. & A. P. Ry.

W. B. Etnier, manager San Antonio street railway.

Daniel Clary, locomotive boiler inspector, S. A. & A. P. Ry.

A. M. Fischer, GRUKIST, San Antonio.

P. McCordie, road foreman of engines, S. A. & A. P. Ry.

H. H. Merley, former manager mechanic G. H. & S. A. Ry.

In addition to this board of inquiry, the explosion was carefully investigated by Mr. W. H. Logan, boiler inspector for the Maryland Casualty Company, Baltimore, Md., one of the large insurers of steam boilers, and Capt. Carlton, assistant to Col. B. W. Dunn, chief inspector of the bureau for the safe transportation of explosives, New York city, and an expert on high explosives.

The expert men on this board of inquiry are fully as competent,
both from experience and service,
as any of the experts of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and what the interstate inspectors are unanimous and positive in their opinions, this board of disinterested experts was very much divided in their opinions, which were made in writing, as to the cause of this explosion.

Four of the board, two of whom are not experts on steam boilers, think the explosion was due to excessive steam pressure.

One does not give any definite cause of the explosion, but states that the boiler was in excellent condition; that no evidence of low water was found, and that there was no evidence of anything being wrong with the steam gauge.

Two of the boiler experts state
the explosion was due to low water, which left part of the crown sheet exposed, and when cold water was pumped on this metal the explosion took place.

One of the army officers, an expert on high explosives, states, "It is evident that the explosion was caused by some unusual and extraordinary cause." This gentleman found that the mud ring was broken in two parts on the left hand side of the locomotive, and that the bolts in this part of the mud ring showed that wrapper sheet and fire box sheet were separated from the mud ring at the same instant. This was not noted in any other part of the boiler, indicating that a local explosion of some character took place at this point. He states that a close examination of all the parts fails to disclose evidence of high explosive action, but that a small charge of dynamite, if suspended in the water, not in contact with any portion of the boiler coverings, would not have left much, if any, trace of its detonations, and at the same time would be sufficient to cause the damage to the mud ring at the point indicated and to force the plates from it at this point.

One member, a boiler expert, thinks the steam gauge became defective under the pressure reached 120 pounds.

Another member of the board
thinks that the fact that the boiler was heated some time before the application of nitroglycerine or dynamite,
but does not preclude the use of some other explosive, such as a derivative of picric acid.

Every member of this board practically agrees, and particularly the boiler experts on the board, that the boiler was of the very best construction, and in good condition, which should absolutely refute the statement made by the Interstate Commerce Commission inspectors,

in which they charge the railroad company as being at fault "in keeping a boiler in service for which the factor of safety, as shown by test, was below the recognized standard."

Outside of the reports of this board of inquiry, the report of the boiler inspectors for the Maryland Casualty Company says, "made a thorough investigation of all parts internally, all sheets, bracing, heads and seams in first class condition, and the boiler free from mud, dirt and scale. Boiler entirely safe for working pressure of 214 pounds, and would require a pressure of about 256 pounds to explode it. Examined two pop safety valves (the only ones found after the explosion), found one adjusting screw and lock nut set up tight on casing, and threads did not show signs of having been moved recently. As neither pop valve spring was found it was not possible to state at just what pressure the safety pops were set, or how much pressure showed on the boiler at time of explosion, but from evidence gathered do not think there was sufficient steam pressure to have caused all sheets and plates to have been torn asunder as they were. Entertain grave doubts that so complete destruction of this boiler was caused alone
by steam pressure."

The inspector of the bureau for the safe transportation of explosives found: "Appearance indicates boiler probably gave way in the vicinity of its left leg. Mud ring broken into several parts. Whilst did not find any shattered pieces of metal indicating use of high explosives, it was not impossible for one to have been used, either inside or outside the boiler. Plenty of places below boiler near driving wheels where explosives could have been located,
which would have driven hole in the boiler, and that part of the boiler may have been the part that was never recovered. There was ample opportunity for persons to have placed an explosive in the boiler.
Pressure in the boiler was about 200 pounds, which would have given temperature of the steam 388 degrees, and probably down at the front end of the leg of the boiler temperature would not be over 360 degrees, which is about the exploding point of dynamite or nitro-glycerine."

All these experts, both on the board of inquiry and off, practically agree that the boiler was in first class condition, thus refuting absolutely the statement of the interstate Commerce Commission that it was not.

Investigation by myself and other company officials, promptly after the accident, developed the following facts:

The locomotive, which was comparatively new, having been less than four years in service, had been in the San Antonio shops for several weeks and overhauled. After completion of work upon it, the boiler was found to be in good condition.

This engine, after being fired up in the roundhouse, was brought out of the roundhouse by Hostler Lewis, a very intelligent negro of many years' experience in this line of work. Lewis stated that he brought the engine out of the roundhouse, took it to the water tank, where water was put into the engine tank, and also oil for fuel, and turned the engine over after this was done to the engineer who was to take it out on the run. At the time he turned the locomotive over to the engineer the steam gauge registered 190 pounds, injectors were working,
and the engineer tested the water
cocks, looked at the steam gauge and saw that the injectors were working; then took his oil can and got down on the ground to oil up.

The master mechanic, Mr. Mc-Lean, was on the engine fifteen or twenty minutes before the explosion, and stated that at that time everything was in good shape, and that the steam gauge registered 145 pounds. A man named Gorman was on the boiler at the time the engine exploded setting the pop valves and waiting for the steam to reach 200 pounds so as to set the valves to blow off at that pressure. The Inspector of the Interstate Commerce Commission states as their final conclusion that "the explosion was due to excessive steam pressure, caused by an employee of the company tightening the adjusting screws of the safety valves, resulting in an accumulation of steam pressure beyond the endurance of the boiler, and then go on to state that the company was at fault in allowing such responsible work as setting safety valves to be performed by employee of whose experience and judgment the testimony shows it is clear that he was not qualified.

I am at a loss to know the basis for this statement. Gorman was a victim of the explosion, and therefore cannot for himself answer the reflections cast upon him by this report. As a matter of fact, the records of the company show that Gorman was employed early in October, 1911, and had properly and satisfactorily adjusted the safety valves on twenty-seven locomotives prior to the 704 several of which were locomotives of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Ry. Roundhouse Foreman
Cavanaugh, an old and experienced employee of many years in the service, states that when he put Gorman on this work he watched him until he saw that he was O. K.; that his work was satisfactory, and that he was a sober and industrious man.

Mr. McCordie, a member of the board of inquiry a practical man of wide experience in the handling of men as well as locomotives, in his report which was made shortly after the explosion referring to Gorman, says: "I think the man who was setting the pop valves was entirely competent; that the work of adjusting the pops was being properly performed."

Gorman began his career as an apprentice in the shops of Robert Thompson & Sons in Great Britain and served there five years. He was afterwards engineer on British steamers Foyd Abeokuta and Bessborough, and his ability and conduct are reported "very good" by the commanders of these vessels.

Gorman also worked as a machinist for the Carnegie Steel Co.
at Youngstown, Ohio, and the foreman of those works states he was a good workman and competent.

As is well known, a great many of the shop employees of this company voluntarily left its service in September last, and in order to faithfully discharge its duties to the public as well as to its stockholders, it was compelled to employ, and did employ, new men to take their places. If the inference is to be drawn from the report of the interstate Commerce inspectors that a railroad is negligent in entrusting such work as Gorman was performing at the time the accident occurred to anyone other than employees old in its service, then we must plead guilty to such negligence, but I am not prepared to believe that either the government or the general public will censure the railroad for employing experienced and competent men wherever they can be found, to take the place of employees who voluntarily quit its service.

The exploded boiler was designed to carry a working pressure of 200 pounds per square inch, with a safety factor of 5, which means that it would have required a pressure of 1,000 pounds to the square inch to have made the boiler give way in its weakest part. Mr. Logan, who inspected the boiler thoroughly after the explosion and looked at every piece of it, announced it exceptionally well built and of the very best material and construction, and states positively that as the boiler stood at the time it exploded
it would have required a steam pressure of 256 pounds per square inch to have made it give way. Proof that no such pressure was in the boiler is shown by the fact that at the tie of the explosion the injectors were working and putting water into the boiler. The Nathan Manufacturing Company, who made the injectors used, state that these injectors will put water into a boiler at as low a pressure as 40 pounds and at as high a pressure as 240 pounds — 240 being about the maximum at which injectors of this type have worked. All engineers and mechanical men are well aware of this fact,
and yet it is shown conclusively in the statement of the boiler, and would also not be shown by the engineer if he were alive, that the injectors were working. The engineer, Walter Jordan, was one of the best and most experienced engineers in the service of the company. He had been running an engine for about twenty-five years,
and was always a very careful man.
It is entirely beyond the bounds of possibility that if any such pressure as claimed was in this boiler at the time he took charge of the engine, he would not have known it and have at once applied the correction.

It is suggested that possibly the steam gauge did not respond correctly. This gauge was tested before it was put on the locomotive by a weight gauge testing machine, and was found to be accurate. The man who made the connection to the boiler stated that he cleaned out the syphon pipes and saw that they were perfectly clear before the connection was made. Even admitting that the steam gauge might have registered inaccurately, the fact that the injectors were putting water into this boiler at the time of the explosion would seem to prove beyond all doubt that the pressure did not exceed 240 pounds to the square inch. Mr. Logan, the boiler expert, states that it would have required about 256 pounds to have exploded it.

One of the most important features in connection with the damage done by this explosion would seem to have been overlooked, at least no mention is made of the same by the government inspectors, and that is that one of the driving axles, a solid piece of steel nine and one-half (9 1/2) inches in diameter, was broken short off underneath this engine by the force of the explosion.

It is possible to conceive that a solid steel cylinder, 9 1/2 inches in diameter could be confined in such a way that steam pressure sufficient might be brought against it to break it, but it is hardly possible to conceive that steam pressure sufficient to break a cylinder of this kind could be exerted upon it in the open air. The destructive force of a high explosive placed on or near a steel cylinder would, no doubt, shatter it, but it is not believable that any steam pressure in the open air could do this. Many of the employees around the shop at the time of this accident stated positively they heard two separate and distinct explosions. Such testimony as this should be considered.

It is quite apparent from the above that the true cause of the explosion of this locomotive boiler has not been determined. The inspector of the Interstate Commerce Commission and unanimously that the explosion was due to excessive steam pressure. The board of inquiry, which was composed of several experts, entirely disinterested and fully as experienced and as competent as the Interstate Commerce Commission inspectors, are badly divided in their opinions, as to the cause, but all agree that the boiler was in first class shape, contrary to the opinion of the interstate inspectors. Whilst some members of the board of inquiry believe the cause to have been excessive steam pressure, others equally as competent and experienced claim low water
the cause, and still other members indicate, at least their belief, that high explosives were used to rend
the boiler.

The record of the steam gauge,
the fact that the injectors were working, the fact that the explosion broke up the boiler and parts of the machinery in many places, and threw them in every direction, and the further fact that a massive, solid steel cylinder (the axle) 9 1/2 inches in diameter, was broken like a pipe stem, in the open air, are all circumstances that cannot be lightly brushed aside in any unbiased investigation of this disaster.

Under such circumstances it is but natural to go further and to consider the circumstantial evidence in this case.

Since the day employees of the company left its service on September 30, 1911 many acts of vandalism have been committed against its property, and in addition, two guards and one workman were killed at Houston, whilst many employees have been assaulted and beaten up at many points on the line. Locomotives, just out of the shop, after running a few miles,
have knocked out cylinder heads,
and investigation has developed that small nuts or other pieces of metal have been placed in the pipes which worked down into cylinders, doing this damage. Wooden plugs have been found in steam gauge pipes.

Numerous cases have been found where every disc has been put in bearings; water has been doctored, and many similar acts of vandalism
have been perpetrated.

Much evidence exists pointing directly to the exclusion that this work has been done by men who sought employment in the shops for the very purpose of doing damage to property. It does not require much imagination to believe that some of the men who did such dastardly acts would also, where opportunity offered apply explosives, such as may have occurred at San Antonio.

Indeed, this view will not be considered extravagant after reading

CHARTER COMPANY TO BUILD FLYING MACHINES

TEMPLE MEN FIRST TO BREAK INTO THIS GAME IN LONE STAR STATE.

Special to The Morning News.

Austin, Tex., June 8.—An Aero club has been chartered in Texas. Not in any one of the several "metropolises," however, but in the city of Temple. It is the first charter of its sort to be filed in the state, and its incorporation declares their purpose to be the building of air craft and the promotion of the industry of air navigation generally.

The charter calls for a capital stock of $5,000, and as was originally written gave its purpose to establish a library and the promotion of scientific undertaking, "of building and flying aerial craft, including monoplanes, biplanes and dirigible balloons of any kind and character," but as there is no law on the Texas statute books authorizing the building of aerial craft, the quoted part of the purpose was eliminated. This, however, does not prevent the corporation from building airplanes and flying machines.

The incorporators are E. K. Williams, who has subscribed 200 shares; George W. Williams, W. G. Rowland, W. E. Dosier and four other citizens of Temple.

FLAVORING EXTRACTS TO JUMP IN PRICE
Five and Ten Cent Bottles to Give Way to 25-Cent Ones, Says Speaker.

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, June 8.—The complexity of pure food laws in many parts of the United States was condemned by W. M. McCormick, president of the Flavoring Extract Manufacturers' association, in his address this morning at the Emerson hotel at the opening of the third annual meeting of the association. He said the association stands for the purity of its products and has on this account turned down some applications for membership because there was a question about the business of the applicants. The members, he declared, had found the varying pure food laws in the different states as great handicaps to trade. He advocated uniform laws for the whole country and the repeal of laws that work harm to the industry without any benefit to the consumer.

The heavy internal revenue on alcohol, he pointed to as a handicap to export trade, with no corresponding benefit to the federal treasury or to the people of the United States. The immediate effect of the great mass of legislation on the subject, he said, has been to drive out of business small manufacturers, because they cannot bear the expense of constant consultation with lawyers and chemical experts. He declared that simpler laws, administered by men with business, as well as technical experience, would be a great boon to the industry. There was some amusement when he suggested that the members themselves run for congress and become candidates for the state legislatures so they would be on hand to protect their interests.

He described a conference he had with President Taft April 22, when a National Chamber of Commerce new organization was predicted that this new organization will do much good for business. Speaking of the great amassing of wealth in a few hands and of the narrowing profits of many industries, he said there is great unrest and this can be allayed only by greater intelligence in legislation.

The day of the 5 and 10-cent bottles of extracts, he said, will probably soon be gone. To make profits the companies, he said, will have to have 25 cents as the smallest limit. He pointed out defects in the tariff law and in proposed measures, saying that some of these will permit impure products to come into the country in competition with pure American products.

Poured Hot Metal Down Comrade's Neck to Settle Old Grudge

Special to The Morning News.

Michigan City, Ind., June 7.—Pouring a ladle full of melted metal down the back of a fellow foundry worker was the method used today by Joseph Hyran to settle an old grudge. The victim, Hephnam Sam, may die of his injuries. He was picked up unconscious and was taken to a hospital. Hyran was arrested.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT ROBBED OF 25 CENTS

He Stands On Chair In Police Court and Raises Wrong Hand In Taking Oath.

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, June 8.—"Is Theodore Roosevelt in the court?" queried Justice Dean, presiding in the Northeastern police court this morning.

"Yes," came in a weakened voice from the far side of the court room.

"Step up then, and all the witnesses in the case also come forward," returned the justice. Small in stature and young in years, Theodore Roosevelt walked to the rail and said, "I's Theodore." Theodore was the prosecuting witness in the case of State vs. Arthur Dent (colored), 802 Spring street, who had been arrested on the charge of the larceny of 25 cents of the namesake of the former president of the United States.

Roosevelt was so diminutive that the justice could not see him standing in front, and he had him set on a chair. Roosevelt obeyed, and then came. Raise your right hand, Theodore. Theodore raised his left. "Raise your other hand, Roosevelt. Do you not know which is right and which is left?" remonstrated Justice Dean. Theodore told how Dent had taken his money and given him three cents in exchange, and Justice Dean, thinking that the proverbial taking of money from children had reached a fitting climax, sent the case to court.

OFFER OF UNCLOTHED WOMAN STIRS BOARD

City Officials Want to See Sketch of Undraped Statue.

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, June 8.—The board of estimates was shocked this morning. There was a reason.

Eugene I. Rosenfield offered the city a "nude woman."

"Right out in meetin'," he spoke, and even went so far as to insist that the lady in question be allowed to stand in the center of the St. Paul street plaza of the courthouse. The "lady" wasn't a real one, just a statue that will be the piece de resistance of the electrical fountain that will be placed there during the Democratic national convention, but it served to create excitement among the members of the board.

"A nude woman!" exclaimed the mayor, as Rosenfield broached his proposition.

"Oh!" cried Mr. Hubert, and his cry went echoing around the table.

"Well, call it a cannica one," persevered the lighting man. "Never," exclaimed Colonel Hook as he swept from the room. "Ah, then she'll be a draped one," said Rosenfield plainly disappointed.

And so it was arranged. A draped lady she shall be, but at that the mayor is not taking chances. Rosenfield was told to prepare a drawing of the "lady" and submit it to the municipal art commission for their approval.

BORROWING LITERATURE

"Can you loan me four volumes of your Shakespeare set?" "Certainly. Which volumes do you wish?" "It makes no particular difference. We're to play bridge tonight, and our card table isn't quite high enough."

NO AMERICAN COLLEGE CREW TO GO TO SWEDEN

REGRET EXPRESSED THAT THEY WILL NOT SEND PICKED EIGHT TO STOCKHOLM.

Special to The Morning News.

Stockholm, June 8.—Much regret has been expressed that America will not be represented by a crew at the 1912 Olympiad. It was expected that Yale, Harvard or Cornell would send a picked eight, and it is still hoped that at the last moment a representative American university crew can be persuaded to enter.

The Australian eight and a sculler are in England now practicing for the regatta. England, which will not send her crews until after the Henley regatta, will be represented by an eight and a four. Among the other nations which will be contenders in the rowing races are France, Italy, Finland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Russia, Germany, Hungary and Austria.

Some little dissatisfaction is expressed because the great maritime powers, England and France, will be represented only in the yacht races by six meter boats. Germany is well represented on the water by two yachts of each class. Other nations which have heavy entries for the yachting regatta are Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Russia and Finland.

In the swimming competitions America will be represented by a team of ten men; Australia, 5; Belgium, 12; Bohemia, 2; Canada, 6; England, 36; Finland, 15; Italy, 4; Denmark, 6; Norway, 1; Russia, 12; Germany, 18; Hungary, 22; and Austria, 20. Sweden will probably be represented by a team of sixteen swimmers.

For the shooting competitions the United States has entered three teams. The other nations at the targets will be England, Norway, Russia, Germany, Hungary, Austria, Denmark, Finland, Canada, South Africa and Sweden.

Such remarkable time was made by the three place winners in the recent Marathon tryouts here that Sweden is hopeful of being the victor in the great long distance classic. The records were made under the most unfavorable circumstances, as the race was run in a storm of hail and snow which was swept into the runners' faces by a strong north wind. Gustav Tomros, the young Swedish runner who, as a mere lad, finished fourth in the Athens Marathon, broke the tape first after covering the distance in 2:31:44.5-10. J. Sonnenberg finished second in 2:39:52.1-10, and V. Gruner was third in 2:44:14.

The preparations for the Olympic games have been saddened by the death from cancer of Bernhard Burman, who has taken a leading part in promoting the Olympiad. He is a veteran Olympic games enthusiast, having been one of the organizers of the Swedish participation in the original games at Athens. He was also a backer of the Swedish team which attended the London games in 1908. For the present Olympiad he had been entrusted with the financial arrangements, and his death on the eve of the opening of the games is a heavy blow to the directors.

At the funeral there was gathered a large number of Swedish sportsmen headed by the crown prince.

FOURS LIQUOR IN PRAYER

Special to The Morning News.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 8.—After twenty-one liquor dealers in the criminal court had been fined $50 and costs each and sentenced to thirty days in the workhouse on the charge of violating the statewide prohibition law, the Rev. J. W. Venable, following a prayer by the Rev. E. J. Baldwin, in which he asked God to rid the city of illicit liquor selling, poured out the whiskey used as evidence.

"Oh, Lord," said Dr. Baldwin "we are not praying against these men, but against their business." The workhouse sentence was suspended because of lack of room in that institute.

Kaiser Victim of Joke; He Digs Up Antiques 'Planted' by Corfu Wags

Special to The Morning News.

Berlin, June 7.—The details of how the kaiser was hoaxed at Corfu during his holiday by "discovering" antiques which had been planted for his benefit by the municipal authorities are being laughed over here.

When the first intimation was received that the kaiser would visit Greece for his holiday, the municipality secretly met and several schemes were discussed for making his sojourn as pleasant as possible, but discarded as unsuitable.

When the kaiser landed at Corfu he was met by the burgomaster and other officials and presented with an address of welcome, in which the burgomaster adroitly hinted at excavation work.

The kaiser was so impressed with what he saw that he spent considerable time each day while on the island digging for historical and archaeological objects, and to his great satisfaction unearthed some wonderful statues. His success is not surprising when it is explained that the enterprising municipality had ordered some German manufacturers who specialize in making antiques to supply a number of objects which were carefully buried in the field where the excavation was being carried on.

Permanent Style

Ever see clothes that had the shape ironed into them? They look fine for a week, but after that all the style and shape disappears, and no amount of pressing will bring it back.

Contrast them with the sewn-in-with-the-cloth style of "ALCO SYSTEM" Clothes.

These ready-for-service garments are distinctively styled and reflect the newest of this season's models.

They receive the most minute attention through every operation in their tailoring. The stylishness that characterizes them from other clothes is of a permanent character, and the garments hold their shape permanently.

OPERATING COST GAINS WITH EARNINGS

EXPENSES OF STATE'S ROADS INCREASE OUT OF PROPORTION TO REVENUES.

Statistician of Texas Carriers Minimizes Profits For Last Nine Months.

Special to The Morning News.

Austin, June 8.—Col. H. G. Askew, statistician for the leading Texas railroads, has compiled a comparative statement of the financial condition of thirty of the leading Texas railroads for the first nine months of the present fiscal year, which ended March 31 last.

In operating revenue these thirty roads show an increase for the first nine months of the present fiscal year, as compared with the first nine months of the preceding fiscal year, of $2,913,965.91, but this increased revenue is more than absorbed by an increased operating expense during the same period of $2,126,912.61. In other words the operating expenses during the period increased $113,066.67 more than did the operating revenue. Other income than operating revenue, however, was $572,529.48 greater during the first nine months of the current fiscal year than it was during the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year, and this leaves the gross corporate income of the thirty roads $459,513.81 greater this fiscal period covered than during the fiscal year period.

Out of this net corporate income the roads must pay a number of fixed charges, taxes being one of them. And taxes on the thirty roads for the nine months' period of the present fiscal year aggregated $485,782.91 more than they did for the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year.

Other charges against the thirty roads that had to be met (including taxes) aggregated $2,863,413.84 more for the nine months of the current fiscal year than they did for the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year.

After deducting these legal charges against the gross corporate income it is found that the net corporate income of the thirty roads (and net corporate income is the balance left after deducting from the gross corporate income all legal charges) was for the period covered $965,965.91, as against $3,309,966.91 for the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year, a falling off of $2,493,999.12 for the comparative period.

During the first nine months of the present fiscal year the thirty roads spent for additions and betterments $4,316,424, while during the same period of the preceding fiscal year the same roads spent $5,897,831, or $1,581,407.83 more, for the same purpose.

For the nine months' period ending March 31, 1911, the thirty roads had a deficit after paying for additions and betterments, of $2,588,928.79, while for the nine months ending March 31, 1912, the same roads had a deficit of $3,419,458.99, or a deficit of $822,429.20 more for the nine months' period of this fiscal year compared with the same nine months' period of the preceding fiscal year.

STRANDED MARINERS FEAR CANNIBALS WILL EAT THEM.

Note in Bottle Told of Seven Shipwrecked Sailors, Who Fear the Cannibals.

Valparaiso, via Galveston, Tex., June 8.—A report from Punta Arenas says that a bottle was picked up at sea containing news that the American steamship Vergenes was wrecked off Cape Horn and that seven men landed on McKean Island with provisions for one month. The note in the bottle said the men were keeping to their boat for fear of the cannibals of the surrounding archipelago.

They asked for prompt help and the Punta Arenas authorities have sent a steamship cutter in search of them.

The name of the Vergenes does not appear in any of the marine registers.

Touring Europe---England

HOMEWARD BOUND ON STEAMER LAKE MANITOBA—INTERESTING GOSSIP OF TRIP.

S. S. Lake Manitoba, Sept. 2, 1911.

Took passage at Liverpool yesterday for Montreal; expected to sail Aug. 31, but the strike on railroads and docks delayed our departure. It was a long, tiresome wait in the general waiting room after reaching Liverpool. There were very poor accommodations, but our steamer was finally towed in by a lighter. My room is an outside one, and quite spacious, with a long lounge and only two berths. The morning sunshine is quite agreeable, as the northern route is cold at this season of the year.

We have been sailing all night on the Irish sea, and the shores of Ireland are plainly visible on both sides of us up the bay. They are usually green and present a most inviting appearance to the sailor who has nothing but a broad expanse of water before him. This year the devastating effect of the drought and heat has been felt in all the European countries, but not so in Ireland. We are at this moment approaching Belfast, near which we will anchor to receive American tourists and passengers for Canada.

In our progress as we skirt the shores of Ireland I am greatly impressed with their marvelous emerald appearance and high degree of cultivation. The isle of Man is sighted from this longitude. In looking over my effects in my suitcase I find I thought I had mailed several days ago. We move so constantly and rapidly that I am surprised that I commit no more errors. I have lost my individuality altogether and am led by a conductor who is prompt to the minute. I have never before felt quite so much like a sheep in a drove.

We are passing between Scotland and Ireland, near the Giant's Causeway. The temperature is changing very perceptibly as we enter the broad Atlantic, bearing north, and our motion is not so smooth as on the Irish sea. No sickness yet among the passengers, but many are withdrawing into nooks apart from the crowd in a suspicious manner.

Sunday, Sept. 3. Mass this morning and Episcopal services later were held in dining room. There are several hundred passengers aboard, a large proportion being Canadians. This afternoon we had the novel sight of a fire drill, when buckets and blankets were freely used, after which the crew assembled for roll call, a weekly occurrence, to prevent such catastrophes as the General Slocum wreck a few years ago. If the apparatus and boat's crew had been in good condition on that vessel many of the lost passengers might now be alive.

Monday, Sept. 4. The brine splashed through our port hole last night, when our steamer was on the rampage, and thoroughly drenched the occupants of our stateroom. One lady whose mouth happened to be open caught a wholesome draught. Have just been reading an account of the "Louvre theft" which continues to agitate the Paris and London public.

Tuesday, Sept. 5.

There has been a high sea with rain and slight snow ever since night before last. Many of the passengers have paid tribute to Neptune. There are fifteen or twenty orphan boys in the steerage being conducted to Alberta, Canada, by two or three Catholic priests from England's congested institutions. Some of the boys are cheerful, others look thoroughly dejected and miserable. They are well clad, but some don't look to be over seven years of age. One little fellow was lying on deck in a dead stupor from seasickness, cold and exposed, when a kind-hearted New York lady pulled off her sweater and covered him. The passengers soon restored him and he felt quite proud of the addition to his scanty wardrobe. The "milk of human kindness" is always evident among tourists.

I was staggering from the breakfast table into the corridor when I stumbled against one of our party, also feeling his way very carefully. Says he, "brace up, brace up; you've had a drop too much." One of the ladies in my stateroom has been recumbent ever since the first morning. The poor dear tries so hard to be brave. Our fare is very good, having fruit in abundance, but no wine, as on our French steamer going over.

Wednesday, Sept. 6.

The steamer is making such slow progress that everybody is disheartened. "The coal is bad and green stokers," is the excuse. Instead of landing at Montreal on the 10th, we may not land until several days later. The English strike has affected every branch of business during the summer, the railroads and steamship lines largely included. Wheat which was shipped from Canada to Liverpool was not unloaded, but is on the vessel, being returned to Canada.

Thursday, Aug. 9.

Such a storm and beastly sea as we are having! I shall never travel the Canadian route again. We expected to land on the 10th, but if we reach Montreal on the 14th, or even later, we will be doing well.

The passengers have some amusement every evening. Last evening it was a spelling match, this evening a concert to raise funds for indigent seamen, and often cards. Yesterday there were several accidents from the rocking of the vessel. One lady fell and hurt her arm badly; another cut her head, others struck ungraceful attitudes on deck. The rain has made all things gloomy, but the rifts in the clouds promise brighter weather. Nothing of interest is transpiring, I sit and read to my roommate, who continues sick with the ship's doctor in attendance.

Thursday, Sept. 7.

The air is bracing, the sun is shining and the ocean as smooth as a mirror. "Sticking the pig" is the principal amusement today. This is something like pinning the donkey's tail, "shuffle board" and "the frog," and always have devotees of men and women. We sighted a steamer in the distance, one of the exciting events of an ocean voyage. Several young Englishmen are on board bound for Saskatchewan and Alberta, Canada, going out to make their fortunes. I don't know the inducements in those provinces.

Friday, Sept. 8.

It has been rough weather for several hours, cold and raining, and the sick passengers who had appeared feeling better retired again to their rooms. There was an exciting spelling match and game of which afterwards last evening in the dining room. Prizes were awarded. Again, as I staggered this morning from the breakfast room, my facetious friend holding on to the railing, remarked, "I would advise you, madam, to go to your room and not be seen in that condition."

The wind blew at the rate of 70 miles all night, and the steamer rocked and bounded manfully. Time after time the dishes fell crashing to the floor. Near daylight I heard a fall and a scream. The ship's surgeon says he has been kept very busy, especially among the steerage passengers. He receives no pay from them unless voluntarily offered, but of course the deck passengers are expected to pay.

Saturday, Sept. 10.

We passed a large iceberg late last afternoon, carrying menace and death in its graceful train. Of course our captain and the man in the "crow's nest" were on the alert and diverted their prow. We are in much colder waters, being now in the strait of Belle Isle, between Newfoundland and Labrador, and will soon enter the mouth of the St. Lawrence river. We are at Montreal today, but our sailing date having been delayed and beating against a violent wind most of the time, including other disadvantages, we will not reach Montreal until Wednesday morning.

Sunday, Sept. 11.

The fog born has been blowing all night, and upon rising this morning found that we were enveloped in a dense fog. Although the sun is shining brightly now, it is of little advantage in the progress of the ship. Yesterday was quite devoted to religious services, supplemented with a song service in the evening.

11 O'clock a. m.

Have just witnessed the novel sight of seven steamers on the quai of St. Lawrence at one and presents a cry of "Wales, Wales, a Wales," and ran to the railing to watch several whales spouting and sporting in the clear sunlight some distance away.

This has been a cold, rainy and dreary voyage, and least interesting of any I have ever taken, and could never be induced to take it again. One of the party purchased a lot of books at Studie's in London, which has been a circulating library among us. She has been very accommodating and gracious in allowing us the use of them. The man leaves the steamer this afternoon. My notes have been rather incoherent, but written just as events and ideas crowded each other. Our next dreaded event is the customs, for many of us have souvenirs and presents for friends which we would not like to be taxed. Taxing is practiced everywhere, and all try to avoid it.

Montreal, Thursday.

Paused at Quebec last night, where two of the party left us. Reached Montreal this morning. Passed through the customs with very little trouble. Was told if I opened my suitcase promptly, with an angelic look of innocence, that I would pass all O. K. I did so, and was charged $8 on the only dress I bought. The bluff game, I think, would pay better. I bonded my valise from the Montreal customs to the New York central station, which necessitated only one examination, and that after I boarded the train. After you bond your baggage (that is, over to the officials) it is at the designated station, where you obtain it for the scheduled departure of your train. I find this a splendid plan, as you are relieved of all responsibility of your baggage, say nothing and find it all right when called for.

I had purchased a round trip ticket over the New York Central from Waco, and going down from Montreal (which was extra) to Utica, I was once again on my own native heath.

It was rain, rain, rain the whole country soaking wet. At one point on my homeward journey we stopped five hours to lay the rail track which had been washed up. The clouds kept the whole route until I reached Texas after leaving New York, and they began again and kept most copiously till spring.

TOWN BURN HAMMER

AND CUTS KNOCKING

Special to The Morning News.

New Brunswick, N. J., June 8.—The "Roost New Brunswick" week ended with a baby parade and the burning of the hammer. Highland park, Round Brook, Frank N. Park, Rayonne, Metuchen, South River and other New Jersey towns had babies among the 75 in the parade in Monument Square, New Brunswick.

The first prize, known as the Queen's Prize, for the handsomest baby under four years, was a Shetland pony. It was won by Alice Marie Hendricks, aged 2 years, she and her sister, Anna, represented butterflies and rode in a decorated coach.

A cup for the handsomest baby between 4 and 5 years was won by Virginia Herferick.

At 10 o'clock last night the little Queen of Progress, Marion Winters, applied a torch to the huge hammer just without the town limits. This hammer, which symbolized the spirit of "knocking," was burned to ashes and then interred in a goodly amount of New Jersey soil.

VANDALS ATTEMPT TO DESTROY STATUE.

Special to The Morning News.

Yonkers, N. Y., June 8.—Three vandals yesterday attempted to destroy a statue of Kosciuszko, erected by Polish residents of the city in the schoolyard of St. Casimir's Catholic church.

Sister Aloysia heard the men at work, looked out of the window and saw what they were doing. She ran out and chased them into Nepperhan avenue. They had torn down the bunting and wreaths with which the statue was decorated and had broken off the sword which the marble replica of the revolutionary era wore. The statue was unveiled on Memorial day. It is thought Russians, of whom there are a large number here, may have felt incensed at the tribute to Kosciuszko. Rev. Dr. Joseph Dvorzak, rector of the church, has asked the police to investigate the vandalism.

The 350 Employees of Sanger Brothers to Have Half Holiday Each Friday During the Months of July and August

THE 350 HAPPY EMPLOYEES OF THE SANGER STORE WHO BENEFIT BY THE HALF-HOLIDAY EACH WEEK DURING THE MONTHS OF JULY & AUGUST.

Mr. Sam Sanger yesterday announced that during the month of July and August the store of Sanger Brothers would close at one o'clock each Friday, giving the three hundred and fifty employees of the establishment a half-day of recreation during the two warmest months of the year. Half-day closing during the summer months has been inaugurated in many of the larger cities throughout the United States and because of the fact that it affords rest and recreation for those who daily serve the public, it has met with universal approval on the part of those who might be inconvenienced by the store closing. In some cities all the stores have taken up the idea and set apart a certain day, and the public arranged to do the shopping in the morning.

This move is typical of Mr. Sanger, it having been his policy to extend every courtesy possible to the employees of Sanger Brothers. It was Mr. Sam Sanger who, three years ago at Christmas time, started the idea in Waco of early Christmas closing, and for the past three years during the week before Christmas the Sanger store has only been open until 9 o'clock in the evening and only until 9 o'clock on Christmas Eve, instead of keeping open until almost midnight, thus allowing those who toil hardest in serving the holiday shoppers to enjoy the pleasure of Christmas Eve with their friends and families.

Mr. Sanger stated in connection with his announcement yesterday that the Sanger store would close at one o'clock on Fridays during the months of July and August, that he felt certain that the public would feel an interest in the plan and co-operate by doing the Friday shopping before one o'clock on this day.

It is believed that with Sanger Brothers taking the initiative in the half-holiday movement, that many, if not all, of the other stores will take it up. Closing on Friday afternoons allows the employees an opportunity to rest before entering upon the hardest day of the entire week—Saturday—and this fact means to the merchant a better service for his patrons on his biggest day. The stores in many of the larger cities of Texas have a half-holiday during the summer months, and Mr. Sanger is to be commended for the inauguration of the idea here.

PRETTY NEWSGIRL TO WED MILLIONAIRE

"NAN" CORRIGAN, QUILTS VANDERBILT TO BECOME BRIDE OF FRANK M. BATES.

Special to The Morning News.
New York, June 8.—"Nan" Corrigan, the pretty little brunette who has been in charge of the news stand at the Hotel Vanderbilt since it was opened in January, was slipping something off and on her finger Saturday when Douglas Brown, the hotel manager, approached and asked: "What have you got there, Nan?" Miss Corrigan blushed, then stammered:

"Mr. Brown, I've got to quit tonight." She added: "I'm going to be married. Mr. Brown, this is my engagement ring." She exhibited a four-karat diamond.

"Whom are you going to marry, Miss Nancy?" the hotel manager asked.

"Mr. Frank M. Bates," she replied. "I must leave you tonight and get ready for my wedding, which will take place Tuesday at Mr. Bates' home in Attleboro, Mass."

News Causes a Stir.
That the little newsgirl was to marry Frank Bates, millionaire jewelry manufacturer, with factories in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, occasioned much surprise about the hotel, although young Bates' attention to Miss Nancy had been conspicuous since the day the Vanderbilt threw open its doors. Miss Corrigan is about 20, with jet black hair, big brown eyes, olive complexion and a petite graceful figure.

Prior to going to the Vanderbilt, Miss Corrigan had the news stand at the Hotel Belmont. There a rich Buffalo widower fell desperately in love and begged her to marry him.

"But there's such a difference in our ages," she told him.

One of the first persons to register at the Vanderbilt the day it opened was Bates. He strolled over to the news stand to buy a book. So fascinated was he with the pretty girl behind the counter that he came back every few minutes and bought a book until Miss Corrigan's stock was depleted.

Miss Corrigan had long hours. She reported for work at 6 a. m., went home at noon, was back at her stand at 6 and remained on duty until midnight.

The first night she started for her home, 166 West Ninety-eighth street, two men were waiting to escort her. One was the Buffalo widower, the other young Bates, who had obtained a formal introduction.

"I will go with both of you," she said. The two men glared at each other.

Young Man Cuts Out Older.

Then the rivals began to pay court to the little news girl. Flowers came daily. Also there were boxes of sweets and other gifts. Gradually the younger suitor forged ahead. He proposed and was accepted. The man from Buffalo left the hotel.

A few days ago Bates brought his mother down from Attleboro and introduced her to the girl behind the counter.

"My son, you have selected wisely for the wedding were set on foot."

"Would you like to see my trousseau?" laughed Miss Nancy at her home last night. "I think it pretty." She brought forth a gray charmeuse satin gown, with slippers and hat to match. "Now, don't you think it pretty?" she asked as she smoothed out the gown.

"How did I happen to accept Frank?" she continued. "Why, I loved him when he came to buy that first book, and it nearly drove me crazy that I had no more books to sell him that day. I was tempted to buy them all back and let him begin over."

Diamonds for Her Neck.

"He's the nicest fellow. He's so big and strong and so unaffected. But you should see what he has given me for a wedding present." Out of a drawer the girl drew a diamond necklace. The smallest of the 19 stones in it is one karat and the largest, which is the clasp, weighs three karats.

"Frank has given me an automobile, too," said Miss Nancy. "It's a dandy."

This morning at 7 o'clock Miss Corrigan and Anna Beegan started for Providence. Miss Beegan is a stenographer and will be maid of honor. At Providence they will be met by a touring car and motor over to Attleboro. The wedding will take place this afternoon.

HIS TOWN SO SLOW HE LOSES A BRIDE.

Chicago Girl Breaks Engagement to Reginald Kennard of Boston.

Special to The Morning News.

Boston, June 8.—Because she found Boston society folks "too slow and poky," Miss Wilhelmina Manierre, a daughter of W. R. Manierre, a real estate broker of Chicago, has broken her engagement with Reginald Kennard, a brother of "Vic" Kennard, the Harvard football star.

"Broken by mutual consent," is the only statement given out at the Kennard home. But the Manierres are not so reticent.

"My daughter could not endure the Puritanical formality of the Kennards, and the severe conventionalities of New England society," wrote her vivacious spirit, said Mr. Manierre.

William P. Kennard, an older brother of Reginald, said today: "My brother expected a long engagement. He is only just starting in business and did not expect to marry for some years yet. During the recent ten days' visit of his fiancée here Reginald was in town just over Saturday and Sunday. The result was that she didn't have as gay a social time as she expected."

"I gave a luncheon for her to a few intimate friends. We are not such a sober, solemn lot at that, but she told us frankly that she did not like the east and that Boston was the slowest old town she ever had been in. That is the secret of the whole affair."

NOOSE SHARKS FOR FOOD.

Pacific Islanders Catch Them While Big Fish Are Asleep.

The island of Aitutake, one of the Hervey group in the Pacific, is surrounded by islets underneath, which are submarine caverns, the homes of sharks. These sharks, which are about six feet long, are esteemed a delicacy, and the natives catch them with nooses.

Arrived over the entrance to the shark cave, the fisherman leaves his canoe to the care of his companions and dives to the bottom, carrying with him a strong cord tied into a slipknot. He expects to find two or three sharks at home, well satisfied and drowsy after feeding in the lagoon, with their tails toward the entrance. Selecting the largest, the diver adroitly adjusts a noose over the tail, taking care that it hangs loosely. If he has another noose he secures a second shark.

The sharp catcher now, with one bound on the white, sandy bottom, rises to the surface in order to assist his friends in hauling up the fish. The astonished shark suddenly finds itself ascending tail first to the surface, when, concludes Harper's weekly, a smart blow from an ax between the eyes or on the tail ends its career.

FIRM CELEBRATES 26TH ANNIVERSARY

GOLDSTEIN-MIGEL DRY GOODS COMPANY HAS BIRTHDAY TOMORROW.

Twenty-six years ago, beginning in a small store and in a small way, two young business men of Waco formed a partnership and established the dry goods firm of Goldstein & Migel. Theirs was the usual struggle for success and existence, possessing but little capital, but making up in energy and ambition for their lack in this, the two young partners, I. A. Goldstein and Louey Migel, have by sound management, conservative merchandising and honesty in all dealings with the public, built up one of the largest retail businesses in Texas.

In 1886 a store at the corner of Austin and Fifth streets was rented and with hard work and application the business thrived. Two years later the store next door was rented and a complete stock was put in, and the famous trade mark, "Everything Man, Woman and Child Wear," was first used. In 1890 the business of I. Lowenstein & Co. was bought out, and the first electric fans ever used in a dry goods store in Waco were installed and a hydraulic elevator was put in. The business prospered and grew rapidly, but in 1891 a fire destroyed the work of years. With characteristic determination and energy, a new stock was purchased and inside of three weeks the store was open again. In 1901 the corner store where the Goldstein-Migel Co. is now located was bought, and in 1905 the store next to this was acquired, giving them two floors, each 100x165.

January 1, 1911, S. Hirschberg, one of the best known dry goods men in Texas, became a partner. Since his coming to the firm bigger things have been looked into and plans for a new store, now in process of erection, have been made. A noteworthy feature of this rebuilding operation is the fact that the Goldstein-Migel Co. has continued to do business—even increasing it, while the new store home is being built about the shell of the old. Thousands are familiar with the appearance of this new building, as photographs of it have been published several times. It will be four stories high, modern in every respect, and with a large basement. The whole will approximate 75,000 square feet of floor space, which will be devoted exclusively to retailing.

Tomorrow the Goldstein-Migel Co. will celebrate the twenty-sixth anniversary with their Great Annual June Mark Down Sale, which is their Thanksgiving offering to the public who has stood by them so loyally, and through whose favor and co-operation the new building has become possible. This sale is an event of the character of which is well known to need comment. It is universally recognized as a great sale, and people come from far and wide to take advantage of the savings. This year plans have been made on a broader scale. On account of rebuilding the firm finds it necessary to reduce stocks to the lowest level, and as a consequence prices will be made that will be truly remarkable.

GIRL CHAINED AND

Special to The Morning News.

New York, June 8.—Accused of beating his daughter Jennie, 14 years old, with the buckle end of his belt and tying her with a dog chain and a rope to a stationary washtub, William Rampone was before Magistrate Herrman in the Harlem police court. He was held in $500 bail for the court of special sessions.

The girl and her brother, 5 years old, to whom she had played the role of mother, were given into the custody of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Rampone, according to the testimony, chastised his daughter until she was unconscious. Then, it was testified, he fastened a dog chain to her ankles and a rope around her waist and tied her to a wash tub, and, locking the door, left her with her brother.

Jennie, with the little boy's aid, escaped through a window. She sought refuge in the flat of a neighbor.

Neighbors swore that Rampone was in the habit of beating his children. The dog chain and the rope were produced in court. Rampone, in defense, asserted that the girl was unruly and that she frequently played "hooky" at school. He said he beat her for taking 50 cents and spending it on ice cream and candy. Jennie, who is small for her age, denied her father's charges.

PHYSICIAN ATTACKED BY NEGRO WITH BRICK

Doctor Badly Injured While Acting in Role of Peacemaker.

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, June 8.—Struck in the back of the head with a brick by a negro, while he was endeavoring to act as peacemaker, Dr. Alexander T. Von Schultz in a serious condition is at his home, 1316 Edmondson avenue, while the negro, Edward Jackson, is being sought by the police. It was at first feared that the doctor had a fractured skull, but Dr. E. H. Mortimer of the Franklin square hospital, who is attending him, found that this was not the case.

While the doctor was returning from a call yesterday afternoon he paused in Vincent alley to speak to a colored woman who had formerly been his patient. While he was speaking, a colored man from across the street began to abuse the woman and on the doctor's entreating him to stop, attacked him with a brick.

136-MILE AERIAL RACE

Special to The Morning News.

Los Angeles, June 8.—An aerial race of 136 miles, the first of its kind on the Pacific coast, is planned for June 16. It is expected at least eight aviators will participate. The starting and finishing point will be Dominguez field, the circuit being Venice, Ocean Park, Santa Monica, Redondo, Can Pedro, Wilmington and Long Beach. This distance is sixty-eight miles, and two laps will be made.

Among those who already have declared intentions of competing are Martin, Champion, Stites and P. Charpentier, the latter licensed by the Aero club of France. Because of the difference in the speed of the various machines used by these aviators the race may be made a handicap affair or divided into two contests.

Stites believes he will be sufficiently recovered from the injuries to participate. The injuries to his back were not as serious as first believed, and doctors say his fractured wrist will knit rapidly. He will leave the hospital today.

HOW ABOUT THESE MEN?

The following article from the Houston Chronicle is so good that it is well worth publishing in every paper in Texas, and The News gives it in full:

"The Chronicle's news dispatches a few days ago told the story of the recapture of a man who escaped from the Huntsville prison ten years ago. It seems that he was sent up for five years for stealing a horse and saddle. He got away just eight days after reaching the prison. For ten years he has been a good citizen. In that time he married and got a family of three children. The news report doesn't say whether he had any further trouble with the law after he left the prison, but the presumption is that he did not, since he lived ten years without his identity with the escaped prisoner becoming known.

"Now, it is easy enough to say that this man ought to be sent back to serve his original term, but does that really cover the equities of the case?

"Are any state prisons instruments of vengeance, or are they primarily corrective and reformatory?

"If instruments of vengeance, then of course the state's vengeance can not be satisfied short of exacting the full five years' penal servitude from this man. It is naturally painful to reflect that the state's vengeance will fall even more heavily upon his innocent wife and upon his innocent children than upon the man himself. And one may ask whether a breaking up of a family and inflicting disgrace and possibly want on this woman and these little ones is not rather a heavy price for the state to charge for the theft of a horse and saddle. Still, if vengeance is the dominant idea, there seems to be no other course to the state to take than to insist upon its full five years of penal servitude from this man.

"But if the state's purpose in trying men for crime was to reform them, would not it be just as well to let ten years of right living, by a man who escaped from prison, weigh for something in the balance against his original crime? Especially where, as seems to have been the case in this instance, it was the man's first offense?

"Somehow, looking at the matter up one side and down the other, we can't escape the conclusion that it is a mistake for the state to seek vengeance upon offenders, or to seek profit, either. It seems to us that it would be a sufficient punishment for these minor crimes against property, and especially in the case of first offenders, if the state should impose a sentence at productive labor, only sufficient to enable the state to repay to the victim of the crime, out of the earnings of the prisoner, the amount of the theft. We are bound to believe that the state takes too much when, to punish a man or a boy for a first small crime against property, it takes five to seven or even ten years of his life, separates him from those influences which mainly keep men straight, and brands him ineffaceably with the stamp of convict.

"This man evidently took his lesson to heart. He walked straight for ten years. He did not offend against the laws. If reformation were the state's purpose in maintaining courts and prisons, its object was surely effected in this case. How will it be with him after he has toiled five years for the state in the prison shops and on its prison farms? And how will it be with his wife and little children?

"If boys and young men would only stop to think about these things, when tempted to take the first wrong step!"

Dr. J. R. Smith was recently stabbed by a tenant in an altercation. He was very seriously stabbed, and he was carried to St. Joseph's hospital in Fort Worth for an operation in an effort to save his life. The very first thought that entered his mind when he came to himself was about the wife and little children of the man who had inflicted the probably fatal wound upon him, and he asked that food be sent them, and that they be looked after so that they would not suffer want because the husband and the father was incarcerated and was unable to provide for them. He asked that in case that he did not recover from the wounds, and that he should be called to pass out into the great unknown, that the wife and the children should have enough money given them out of his estate to keep them from want. A man who can think of such things at such a time as this has a great big heart, and his soul is filled with a great love for humanity. Such a man should not die, but he should be permitted to live, in order that he can do much good in the world, for the world is sadly in need of men of this kind.

The first summer month is here. June is the harbinger of harvest time, when the golden grain will be garnered, and the fields of mowed grain will glisten with the golden light of yellow stubble. Soon the summer sun will ripen the corn, and the green leaves will turn to an amber brown and the ears of corn will be taken from the stalk, laid away for food for man and beasts. Watermelons, sweet and luscious, hearts as red as a poppy breast, will be brought to town and side by side with yellow-coated canteloupes, they will await man's pleasure and his delight. Summer is the time when things grow ripe and sweet and mellow. The apples gather the rich coloring of the break of dawn and hold it in their russet cheeks, the peaches are painted by the noonday gleams yellow, red and purple-pink, and the grapevines are bending low with clusters of grapes full of sweetness of the dew and air and sky, round and purple, laden with the juice of heaven, fragrant with the gathered honey of many flowers and the nectar of many blooms. The seasons all have their uses, each has a purpose all its own, but no one is more full of delights and ecstasies for humanity than the golden summer time.

One may hire the music of the most exquisite orchestra, may employ the most skilled pianist to play the most melodious melodies, may listen to the most famed prima donna or the most cultivated tenors, but unless he has heard the music of a baby's rippling laughter ringing through his home, he has not yet heard the sweetest music. A baby's laugh is more tuneful than the orchestration of woodland feathered choristers, it is sweeter than the sweetest notes of harp or violin or blended tones floating out upon the sea upon a moonlight night, when the breeze is soft and low. You who would have melody in your homes go seek it where babies dwell, close beside Love's cottage. And when you have found one, press him to your beating heart, shower kisses upon his scarlet lips, and tell him stories until his lilting laugh rings out as clear as a wedding bell upon a perfect day in June.

Get out into the golden sunlight and let the sweet summer breezes blow upon your face, forget the sordidness of sin and shame, the greediness of the grind for gold, and look up in the clear blue sky, where there is naught but beauty and quiet peace. Give your ideals a chance to form out in the open close to the heart of nature. Look at the pretty many-colored flowers, enjoy the orchestration of the feathered songsters of the forest, and watch the ripples as they widen in the limpid pool, as the bass leaps to catch the buzzing insect. Out in the glory of the field, down beside the running brook, you will learn that much of the thought of the grim old city is merely dress, and the pure gold is to be found close to nature's big universal heart.

On the 18th of June the National Republican convention will meet, and it will be the biggest show ever pulled off in the great Republican arena. Taft and Roosevelt have things worked up to the boiling point, and there will be criminations and recriminations and all kinds of pyrotechnical accusations. These two distinguished American citizens who are struggling for the nomination have already accused each other of every crime in the calendar. Those who can find the time to attend this show will get their money's worth.

Always remember, young man, that your integrity is your stock in trade and that a banker had rather have the note of an honest man who has nothing but his honor than the note of a dishonest man who has lands, houses and cattle. Keep your honor inviolate, and you will always be able to command enough credit to pull you through any crisis.

A modest violet, peeping out between the bed of green, tells the story of God's love more forcible than any human words or human acts. The little fragrant flowers tells of immortality, and radiates a hope of a life beyond the grave.

There is a false doctrine that has gone forth. Many believe that money rules the world, but it is not so. Love is the thing that rules the world, and without it all money is useless and all wealth is vain.

Major Butt Sends 'Spirit Message' to Taft; 'I Am Happy'

Special to The Morning News.

Washington, June 7.—The inner and most conservative circle of fashionable society in Washington was astonished by the announcement today that one of its most brilliant and exclusive members, Madame Marguerite de Melmer, widow of a distinguished Russian statesman and scholar, has become a psychic.

In making this announcement Mme. De Melmer said she has been in communication with the spirit of Major Archibald Butt, who was lost on the Titanic, and that she had conveyed a message from him to President Taft.

"I do not see ghosts," said Mme. De Melmer, "but I can hear spirits when they speak to me."

"I have had many messages from victims of the Titanic. One that came from Major Archibald Butt April 24 was private for President Taft, which I communicated to him."

Major Butt stated that when, after falling into a great gulf as it were, he came to his senses standing in the presence of William T. Stead, Frank D. Millet and Isador Straus. "We had no idea that we had died," he said, "and were thunder-struck when some one told us we were in the other world. I think it was Mr. Stead who remarked that there was no such thing as dying. It is simply a marvelous passage from life to what men call death. Tell the president that I am happy."

On April 26 Mr. Stead spoke to me in joyful tones," continued Major Butt. "He said that the first to welcome him on the other side was Julia, on whose letters he had written a book."

"I asked Major Butt if he had met John Jacob Astor," said Mme. Melmer, "but he said no."

WILD WEST HEROES SUE.

New York, June 8.—Supreme Court Justice Gerard reserved decision on an application of William F. Cody ("Buffalo Bill") and Gordon W. Lillie ("Pawnee Bill") for an injunction restraining Patrick A. Powers and Philip P. Craft from using moving pictures that the plaintiffs posed for. They ask $25,000 as their share of the proceeds from the pictures in use in theaters.

According to the plaintiffs a contract was entered into between the parties now in litigation in June, 1910. Craft and Powers were to have the right to put on small moving picture plays of western scenes in which "Buffalo Bill" and "Pawnee Bill" were to pose, and were to receive $25,000 and a percentage of the profits. As a result of a dispute over certain payments Cody and Lillie refused to act any more, and they were sued for $1,000,000. This suit was settled. Now the plaintiffs allege that contrary to a new agreement Powers and Craft have placed on the market 8000 feet of film under the name of the Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill film company.

FREE LANCE WINS KENTUCKY DERBY

CHESTNUT HORSE TAKES LEAD AT MILE AND WINS BY GOOD THREE LENGTHS.

Worth, Heavily Played Favorite, Finishes Third, Eight Lengths Behind Winner.

By The Associated Press.

Lafayette, June 8.—On a track that was lightning fast and before the largest crowd ever assembled inside the Kentucky gates, Free Lance, George J. Long's chestnut son of Imp Alvecot-Merry Heart, galloped home a winner in the 29th annual renewal of the Kentucky Derby, Kentucky's classic here today. Three lengths back struggled Major T. J. McIlwain's The Manager, by Victor out of Brace Girdle, but same as he proved himself to be, his trial for victory was in vain, for Jockey Peak on Free Lance, riding the race of his life, never let up but rode the winner out to the last jump and after the final eighth pole was reached left the result never in doubt.

Five lengths back of The Manager, seeming to realize the utter disgrace of finishing completely out of the money, Worth, that black son of Knight of the Thistle—Miss Hanover, as though by sheer nerve, pulled himself under the wire third, beaten, but showing the multitude that waged on him that he had tried his best.

Manager Mack, who had appeared a dangerous contender in the early stages of the race, was at his neck but could get no closer for the superb finish of Schilling, combined with the bigness of the heart of the colt which was forced to carry 127 pounds to the winner's 114, held him steady.

Away back came Cockspur who had trailed the field most of the way, while several lengths behind him was the filly Sprite.

Cheer after cheer went up for the winner. They were not whole-souled, however, for the crowd had wagered and put their hopes in Worth, thus making him a heavy favorite.

Off after delay of two minutes at the post, The Manager was seen to flash in front with Free Lance second, Sprite third and Worth fourth. They raced this way until the mile when Free Lance suddenly shot to the front. At the mile and a quarter Free Lance was three lengths ahead while Worth had dropped back five lengths behind The Manager. This is the way they finished. It was not a race that would inspire the crowd. There was never a minute in the last eighth of a mile that the result was in doubt.

SUBMARINE GOES DOWN WITH ITS ENTIRE CREW

VENDE MIAIR, FRENCH NAVAL BOAT, SINKS OFF CHERBOURG—23 LOST.

By The Associated Press.

Cherbourg, June 8.—France today suffered another marine disaster and lost her fourth submarine when the Vendé MIAIR, in the mimic warfare off Cherbourg peninsula was crushed by the battleship St. Louis and disappeared in 150 feet of water. The submarine was undoubtedly ripped apart by the steel prow of the battleship and all hope has been abandoned of saving the crew.

An official statement issued by the minister of marine this evening gives the number of men aboard 23, including the commander, Lieutenant Priout and Ensign Audic.

The official report of the disaster made by Rear Admiral Marolles, commanding the squadron, says the warships were maneuvering in fair weather when the Periscope of the submarine suddenly emerged dead-end under the bow of the St. Louis. There was no time to change the course and after the shock bubbles rose to the surface for 10 minutes; then came bits of the wreck.

A buoy was anchored at the place where the accident occurred and after waiting an hour the squadron steamed to Cherbourg, leaving behind a cruiser and a destroyer. Later the strong current dragged off the buoy. It is not possible to locate the place of the accident.

MOTORS HOLD UP CAR IN CAMBRIDGE

Motorman and Conductor Dragged Out; Boston Surface Traffic Stops.

By The Associated Press.

Boston, June 8.—Rioting in connection with the strike of the employees of the Boston Elevated railway was resumed tonight. Early in the evening the company decided to abandon its surface cars service for the night.

The rioters then turned their attention to the elevated trains in many sections of the city. At the Oak street incline where elevated trains enter and emerge from the subway cars were stoned.

The first serious outbreak of the night was reported in Cambridge, where a mob of nearly a thousand held up a trolley car, dragged the conductor and motorman off and endeavored to tip it over into the street. Police finally dispersed the crowd.

ORIENTAL BALL MAKES SENSATION IN PARIS

MRS. LETTELIER CARRIED INTO BALLROOM IN CAGE DRESSED AS A BLUEBIRD.

Special to The Morning News.

Paris, June 8.—All Paris is talking of the wonderfully gorgeous Arabian Night Ball at which the Countess Syndard de Cahbrillan entertained the most distinguished foreigners now in Paris in a great tent in the court yard of her mansion on Rue Christopher Colomb. The guests appeared in Arabian garb, and the costumes of other oriental countries, many of them being costumed as birds. One of the features was Princess d'Arenburg, who rode into the tent on the back of a huge Indian elephant, trapped with all the colorful effect of the Far East. Mme. Henry Lettelier, who was carried into the tent, in a great cage, dressed as a bluebird.

Why Flynn Has No Chance With Jack Johnson in July

SAN FRANCISCO SPORT FAN SAYS IF AGE IS BEGINNING TO WEAKEN NEGRO IT IS ALSO ATTACKING OPPONENT.

By W. W. Naughton.

Special to The Morning News.

San Francisco, June 8.—"Do you know what I consider the greatest argument against Jim Flynn's chances of whipping Jack Johnson?" asked a San Francisco sport fan who has no aversion to being considered an oracle.

Answering his own question, the gentleman said:

"It is the fact that Flynn is nearly as old as Johnson and has been in the game nearly as long as Johnson. Johnson is 34; Flynn will be 33 next December. Johnson, according to the record, has been in the ring for 13 years, and Flynn has been fighting 11 years. It is not, therefore, a case of a promising young husky and a passe champion. It is ridiculous to suppose that Johnson's fighting ability is beginning to wane and that Flynn is coming along like a house afire. The men are so close together in years that if Father Time is laying a heavy hand on one of them, he hasn't far to reach to the other."

There is logic in this. What is more, it suggests another line of thought, namely, how long will Johnson remain champion, even if he defends his title successfully against Flynn?

Jack says he is going to retire next September. Well, he may, and then again he may not. Very few champions have been proof against the temptation to get back into harness when big money is hung in the balance, and it may be that Johnson will be induced to try again after he has renounced the ring and its vanities.

If he retires and stays retired, we must get a champion from somewhere, of course. But if he keeps right along at the game, the writer doubts whether he would be able to hold his own against a fairly good heavyweight two years from now.

I draw my conclusions from what I have seen of other pugilists. At Johnson's time of life two years works great havoc. I have known famous fighters, who, after passing the 34-year mark, have sloughed away in workmanlike to such an extent that it was pitiable to one who remembered them at their best, to see them in action. And they were not all fellows who dissipated, either.

The writer believes there will be a new heavyweight champion two years from now, if there is not one sooner. And this is by no means an inference that I consider Flynn's chances of gaining the title thoroughly hopeless. I am free to say that I hardly looked for a Flynn victory in July, but there have been so many violent upsets of expert opinion in prize ring affairs during the past 20 years that it does not do to be too positive in matters of this kind.

Even if Johnson escapes Flynn, there is good prospect of the next world's championship being a white man. We have some capable colored heavyweights now, but like Johnson, they have been a long time in service, and I doubt if any one of them is as good as he was a few years ago. Leaving the age question aside, Sam Langford has been fighting ten years, Sam McVea nine and Joe Jeannette eight, and these are certainly the pick of the negro brigade. Jeannette is possibly the best preserved of the three, but a year or two more of active service will see him slowing up unless I am mistaken, and as far as I know there are no younger colored

NATIONAL COMMITTEE GIVES TAFT 40 DELEGATES

there had been no question in Georgia as to the interpretation of the state law "until after the advent of a stranger from the north," who reached the state about April 15. They did not name the "stranger," but the members of the committee laughed as if they thought they guessed his identity.

After the Arkansas cases had been decided, Committeeman Lowden of Illinois insinuated laughingly that Gen. Powell Clayton, the veteran leader of the Arkansas delegation at large, had himself instigated the contests against his faction.

From Florida, in the cases of the delegation at large and of the First district, came two contesting delegations, each regarded as pro-Roosevelt, and each hostile to the other, as well as to the Taft delegates.

Committee Amused.

Some interesting sidelights were thrown upon the republican situation in the south, and also the intensity of feeling between factions. The committee was several times in roars of laughter over the recital of amusing episodes, without much regard to their factional feelings. Some of the hottest of the contests were from districts where white republican voters are scarce.

Incidentally, it is a good time for any young heavyweight on whom the public has set the mark of its approval to tread the straight and narrow—and be mindful of the possibilities. A couple of years is not long to labor and wait and a couple of years will find Jack Johnson out of the running, provided, always, that he remains in the running after next Fourth of July.

The man who defeats Johnson—if he be a white man—will probably have it in his power to amass more wealth than any world's champion who preceded him. And the manager, or trainer, that develops Johnson's conqueror will be the envy of managers and trainers the world over.

The prospect is so alluring that the wonder is some smart sport who knows a champion in the rough as a horseman knows a colt does not begin scouring the country systematically in quest of material.

IF THE EYE SAYS ONE THING AND THE TONGUE ANOTHER

(By Dr. W. B. Georgia.)

Of all the endowments of the Creator, the eye is the most valuable. It respects neither age nor rank, poverty nor riches, learning nor power. It speaks all languages, conversing as much as the tongue, with the advantage that it needs no dictionary. If the eye says one thing and the tongue another, you will believe the former.

There are asking eyes, asserting eyes, prowling eyes and eyes full of fate, some of good and some of sinister omen. It is a positive index of character, disposition and feeling. You not seen it flash with indignation, kindle with enthusiasm, start with fright, leer with villainy, droop with sadness, fire with the vengeance, twinkle with merriment or beam with love? None but he who has lost it appreciates its value. Samson with his eyes put out was weaker than the dwarf.

While the eye is conceded by all to be the most valuable of the entire human organism, yet it is the most abused and neglected.

We know of people who will buy all sorts of wearing apparel, beautify their homes and spend large sums for luxuries, etc., and then go to the hand-me-down counter and purchase a two-bit pair of glasses when the eyes begin to call for help. The glasses not only mar the features and make the face look hideous, but injure the eyesight as well.

Go to the blind asylums and ask the victims of ophthalmia the value of an eye and then see if you will go on stumbling and blundering with regard to its preservation, trusting the eyeglass counter man, the inexperienced optician and the peddlers for its protection.

The eye is so closely and intimately connected with not only the brain, but the entire nerve system, that the slightest impairment leads to the loss of sight and causes many nervous afflictions. Headache, dizziness, neuritis in the temples, pains in the back of the head extending down into the shoulders and spine, nervousness and many cases of insomnia are directly caused by the impairment of vision, and will yield to no other treatment than properly prescribed glasses. When your eyes are calling for assistance, why not go to Dr. W. B. Georgia, the expert eyesight specialist?

BAILEY FIGHTS MOTION TO RECALL COMMERCE COURT

Attacks It as Tending to Make Respectable "Ex-President's Program."

Washington, June 8.—Senator Pointdexter's resolution, abolishing the commerce court, came up in the senate today and acted upon. The motion was to discharge the interstate commerce committee from further consideration of the measure.

Senator Clapp, chairman of the interstate commerce committee and Senators Nelson, Brown and Cummins, spoke in support of the Pointdexter motion and Senator Bailey against it.

Senator Bailey criticized the bill of repeal as a "sort of legislative repeal," and said that if it was to be enacted into law it would render "respectable and conservative" the proposition for an ex-president to recall judges and their decisions.

nothing whatever in the republican party except the determination of certain members of the national committee who have themselves been repudiated by the republican party, that the majority of the party shall not be permitted to decide whom they will wish to be the nominee for president.

Now, I wish to call the attention not only of all good republicans but of all good citizens to just what this type of action means. As it is there is no law to govern national nominating conventions, as there is to govern national elections.

Because of this lack of federal law, acts, which if done to influence elections, would be criminal, can be perpetrated with impunity so far as national nominations are concerned. But this is a difference in locality and not morality. Again and again we have sent to the penitentiary election officials for acts morally not one whit worse than what was done by the members of the national committee who repudiated the two properly elected delegates in the ninth Alabama district.

Repudiated By Own States.

Nine of these committeemen came from the representative states of Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, New Jersey, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Every one of these nine national committeemen has been repudiated by his home voters. Not one of them will succeed himself on the national committee. Each of them represents a state which at the recent primary elections has declared overwhelmingly against Mr. Taft. The nine states in the aggregate have 302 delegates in the convention of which 258 are for Roosevelt and only 34 for Taft. The nine committeemen are for Mr. Taft, the delegates from their states are 8 to 1 against him.

"It is in view of these facts and of what these facts foreshadow that I wish to make my appeal to the sober judgment of all men who believe that the usefulness of the republican party has not ended. Every man who wishes to see the republican party continue to exist should at once protest against those who are deliberately proceeding to wreck it. The leaders speak as if they were the regular republicans. I don't concede that theft is a test of regularity. The republican party is not insolvent nor has it appointed its receivers the nine repudiated committeemen I have mentioned nor their colleagues who have in some fashion been repudiated by the popular vote of the republicans of their states.

What Question at Issue Is.

"Nor is the question now at issue one as to the personal preference of any particular man for president or for the doctrines which that man embodies. The question is now merely whether the deliberately expressed judgment of the great majority of the rank and file of the republican party is to be no less deliberately nullified by the very men whose leadership has just been repudiated by this same majority. A nomination obtained by the votes of delegates seated in utter defiance of justice as these two Alabama delegates have just been seated would be worthless to the man obtaining it and would be indignantly repudiated by the party as a whole. Apparently certain national committeemen and certain of the bosses who from the outside influence the national committee have yet to learn that the rank and file of the republican party must be treated as masters and not the servants of their representatives. The action is determined by the expression of the sober and deliberate judgment of a majority of the people."

A HUMAN DYNAMO.

"If you work like this, you'll never live to be old."

"I don't care to live to be old. It takes up too much valuable time."—Kansas City Journal.

COTTON PRICES SHOW EASING OFF TENDENCY

MARKET QUIET—CLOSE STEADY
AT NET DECLINE OF 4 TO 5 POINTS.

New York, June 8.—The cotton market was very quiet today with prices showing a tendency to ease off under scattering liquidation by recent buyers or a little local pressure. The close was steady at a net decline of four to five points. The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 7 points on the old crop positions, which were influenced by covering and slightly better cables than expected but unchanged to 2 points lower on the new crop.

Prospects for clearing weather in the south following the rains of the early week inspired a good deal of scattering liquidation, or realizing for over the week-end, while there also was some local selling on the expectation of favorable weather map next Monday and the market turned easier right after the opening, with prices strong off to a net loss of four or five points on the active months.

Moderate support by some old bulls covering checked the decline around this level and caused slight rallies, but the market eased off again before the close on a favorable view of crop conditions and last prices were at the lowest of the day. Private cables from Russia report that new crop conditions there are more favorable than last year over an area producing fully one-half of the entire crop of that country.

WHEAT MARKET LISTENS FOR GOVERNMENT REPORT

SHOWERS IN WEST—CORN SHOWS FIRMNESS.

Chicago, July 8.—Wheat eased on continued showers in the west. At the end of the session the market was 1/2c under last night's close. Corn finished 1-16c higher, oats at a gain of 1/4c, and provisions 2 1/2c to 12 1/2c up.

Week-end evening up and the fact that the government crop report comes out after the close Monday combined to keep trading in wheat at a minimum. The theory that farmers soon will be too busy to sell or make corn firm. July fluctuated from 74 1/2c to 75 1/2c, closing steady, 1/2c up, at 74 1/2c. Cash grades were in fair demand. Strength of oats grew out of the idea that all of the local stock would be sold before the middle of next week. There was no pressure to sell in the provision market. Accordingly, quotations were put on the up-grade in line with the hog market at the yards. When the trading ceased pork had become dearer by 10 to 12 1/2c and other products 2 1/2c to 4c.

STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR AND DULL

LATER TURN IS TO HEAVINESS.
USUAL LEADERS ARE AL-MOST NEGLECTED.

New York, June 8.—Dulness and irregularity which later turned to heaviness in certain issues dominated the stock exchange today. The usual market leaders were almost entirely neglected. The only movements of interest were in the tobacco shares, which added materially to their gains of the preceding days of the week. The day's news had little bearing upon market quotations.

Crop advices today did not disclose any change in the generally fair conditions existing almost everywhere except in some of the central and middle west states. London markets were weak, pending the outcome of next week's conference in connection with the dock strike.

That the banks are getting ready for the mid-year requirements was shown in the weekly statement of the clearing house banks. Bonds were dull with the price movement somewhat restricted. Total sales, per value, $749,000. United States government 4s were advanced 1-4 cent on the week.

COTTON MARKET FOR WEEK CLOSES AT ADVANCE

HIGH PRICES MADE FRIDAY AND LOW TUESDAY—CROP AC-COUNTS FAVORABLE.

New Orleans, June 8.—The cotton market closed for the week at a net advance of 2 to 25 points. This rise was caused chiefly by heavy buying for the long account which the bears charged was of a manipulative character, but which the bulls claimed was based on unsatisfactory weather and crop accounts from Friday different parts of the belt.

The high prices were made on Friday and the low prices on Tuesday. At the highest the trading points were 31 to 33 points last week's close; at the lowest they were three points under to five points over. The range of prices was 33 to 42 points.

Over the larger part of the belt crop accounts were almost uniformly favorable. Some advices from the eastern belt, however, stated that too much rain had fallen and that fields were becoming grassy. Some counties of Texas and a considerable portion of Oklahoma complained that they were not getting enough rain; the more conservative element in the market, however, was of the opinion that at this season of the year too little rain is better than too much, especially as the western sections of the belt have claimed to have plenty of reserve moisture in the subsoil as the result of long continued rains during the winter and the early planting season.

The bureau report on condition Tuesday did not cause much stir in the market. Following, there was a drop of 5 to 10 points which was not maintained. It was generally regarded that it was altogether too early in the season for any condition figures of value to be compiled because of the government experts.

In the spot department prices rose 3-8 of a cent, middling closing at 11c against 11 1/2-16 last week and 15 7-16 this week last year. Sales on the spot amounted to 1679 against 650 last week and 1482 this week last year; sales to arrive amounted to 863 bales against 600 last week and 73 this week last year. Spot men claimed a better inquiry existed but it did not lead to any great increase in business because of the smallness of offerings.

NEGRO STABBING AFFRAY IS CAUSE OF EXCITEMENT

A sensational stabbing affray furnished excitement for passersby at the corner of Sixth and Franklin streets, about 9:30 o'clock last night. During the mix-up John Townsend and Jeff Townsend, negroes and brothers, each received stab wounds that may prove fatal. Will Nois, another negro, was arrested by Patrolmen John Morgan and Joe Carlisle, charged with assault. He was locked up in the city hall. The wounded negroes were conveyed in the auto patrol to their home in "White City," a suburb.

News Force Has An Acute Case of Genuine Peachitis

Everybody, in all departments of The Morning News, was suffering from an acute attack of peachitis last night. Peaches in the business office, peaches in the editorial room, peaches in the composing room, even the office boy, was full of peaches.

And, as said office boy remarked, "them was sure some peaches." They came from the orchard of C. Falkner & Sons in East Waco. Mr. Falkner is of a philanthropic turn of mind, and, hearing that newspaper men as a rule were rather fond of peaches, he loaded up a big bushel basket from his sixty-acre orchard and sent 'em down.

The Falkner orchard is one of the largest in Texas, comprising some 500 acres of different kinds of fruits—peach, pear, apple, Japanese persimmons, berries and plums. While the crop this season is not a record-breaker by any means, Mr. Falkner reports that it is large enough for him to take care of his friends all right.

Incidentally, many bushels of the luscious product of his peach trees will be distributed among the five "wires" who go to Smithville on the one-day "trip" excursion Wednesday. "Plenty to go around," as Mr. Falkner put it.

M. A. Holmes of Fort Worth is in the city for the purpose of establishing a branch house of the Jackson Automobile company here. Garage privileges have been secured with the Sparks Buggy company, and the agency will be ready for business within the week or as soon as the demonstration can reach the city.

"We were attracted to this field by the wonderful growth of Waco and surrounding country," said Mr. Holmes yesterday. MRS. HOLT HAS CARDS FOR MRS. OTIS JOHNSON

In remembrance of old school days, Mrs. William Holt complimented Mrs. Otis Johnson, who is visiting her from Georgia, with a large bridge party on Friday. The game was played amid all the appointments of a beautiful card function, with opportunity first afforded for meeting Mrs. Johnson, and of giving her cordial home welcome. When the game was formed there was found to be eleven tables. Nor was this all. Several dropped in later for a call. The fragrant sweet pea, and other of the season's blossoms were about the rooms; also the fresh luster from the palm and other growing plants. The prizes list further favored the summer season in that they were an ivory fan and guard for Mrs. Johnson, a Swiss linade pitcher which was won by Mrs. Frank Wheeler, and a parasol which went to Mrs. R. T. Crawford for the high consolation cut. The refreshment service found the initial J. engraved on the brick. Mrs. Holt bestowed the attentions of a thoughtful hostess, and made her compliment to Mrs. Johnson one of the large card functions of the summer season. Her guests were Misses Frances Luedde, Marguerite Brown, Jimmie Higgins, Harwood of Tennessee, Eddie May Higgins, Ruth Evans, Jane Moore, Queen Barnett, Meadames E. F. Drake, W. T. SAINT PAUL'S PARISH ISSUES NEAT DIRECTORY

Members of Saint Paul's parish on Saturday received very neat folders giving the directory of the societies, vestrymen and other organization of the parish. These are full of information as well as of interest to members of the congregation. They will be retained for reference and the information will lead to a much more intelligent order of procedure. Take only one instance. The chairman of the music is George Willig. Should any one within or without the congregation desire information upon this point, the rector may be relieved of one among his manifold duties by Mr. Willig's being reached direct. Among the women's organizations, Mrs. Forest Goodman is president of the guild. Mrs. William Talley of the altar guild, Miss Ada Risher of the auxiliary, Miss Margaret Sleeper of the Junior auxiliary, Miss Minnie Taylor leader of the Little Helpers, and Mrs. William Sleeper leader of the Brotherhood of Saint Andrew. One of the interesting features always in the worship of the Episcopal church is the choir service. The members of Saint Paul's choir among the women are: Misses Lucy May Johnson, Nettie Autrey, Nell Jurey Marguerite Brown, Gertrude Bush, Ione Sorrell; Meadames William Hoffman, V. E. Harrison, William Johnson, John D. Mayfield, Annie Elliott, M. M. Patten, Harry Spannell, J. H. Barnard, Frank Wheeler, T. N. McMullen and W. P. Witteit.

NATIONAL FLAG DAY HONORED BY ENTIRE CITY

Waco is fast falling into line with more advanced places as regards flag deference. Old Glory waves from the Sul Ross school, the Jean Sherwood and the high school. Upon occasions of state the tri-color waves from the top of the Amicable. This is a good beginning, and the time will soon be here when every park and every school at least has its flag. The next to come is the magnificent banner of the tri-color which will be raised with salute at Cameron park on next Friday afternoon. This will be done under the auspices of the Henry Downs chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The nation requests that the fourteenth of every June be a day in which some homage is paid the American flag. Last year the ceremony was the raising of the Amicable banner. For this season, there will be a formal program. Under the appointment of the regent, Mrs. W. C. Harmon, committees are arranging the program. This will be announced later. The general outline is that every family in the city take a box lunch to the park for a sunset supper. Furthermore, that every child wear or carry a United States flag. It may be that a band concert of patriotic airs can be arranged. Other features will be formal presentation and acceptance of the flag, a salute from the immense crowd, the bugle calls, and then a disbanding for the picnic. The Henry Downs chapter urges the co-operation of every mother in Waco, to make this ceremony serve its purpose, that of inculcating patriotism. The park belongs to all alike, and the flag is honored by all Americans alike. Therefore the day should be made of a general celebration. Hundreds should be in Cameron park for supper on National Flag day. The exact program will be made public as soon as the details are definite. The flag and the pole are both gifts through the Henry Downs chapter.

PORCH PARTY AT HUACO. MRS. KILLOUGH HOSTESS

Mrs. R. B. Killough introduced Mrs. Campbell of Kentucky to the pleasures of Huaco club in quite an informal yet delightful manner on Saturday. Welcome was extended to twenty or more of the nearest friends of Mrs. Willig, whom Mrs. Campbell visits, each with her fancy work bag, and each soon in the enjoyment of the porch with its cool breeze. Mrs. Campbell is a charming conversationalist. She is in touch with world affairs, an altogether charming woman of the cultured south. Nothing further than her presence was needed for the entertainment of the morning hour. Mrs. Killough gave emphasis to the porch party idea in that she had the club chef serve on the veranda. This was altogether an informality yet a privilege to the few invited.

MISS LIVELY HONORED BY MISS BIRDIE BELL

The last friendship token which went with Miss Estelle Lively back to her home in Canton was a Philathea pin presented by the class in memory of the happy winter association. Miss Lively attended Baylor university. She was a member of the large Sunday school class of Mrs. Frank Allen, which class also numbers Miss Birdie Bell as a member. It was the thought of Miss Bell that all the class should gather with her to present this pin and after, to have a social hour before summer separation. Miss Alice Turper was spokesman in the presentation. Mrs. Allen was the honoree. There was an ice offered by Miss Bell and a general good time for the young girls who enjoyed her hospitality.

Mrs. J. T. Seary is now matron of her handsomely remodelled residence on Austin avenue.

Quite a pleasing garden party has been formed for the Rotan lawn during the anniversary reception for the Home on Tuesday.

When the day comes for honoring the new flag which goes into Cameron park, there should be a thought for Miss Frances Allison, who, more than any other one individual, has created local reverence for our country's colors. As teacher in the Sul Ross school Miss Allison was instrumental in having a flag placed at this school. Only within the fortnight has she presented to the new high school a flag which she secured through the efforts of the pupils.

THOUSANDS GATHER AT WASHINGTON AT UNVEILING OF MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, June 8.—Christopher Columbus was enrolled in the American Republic's hall of fame today.
In the shadow of the capitol of majestic memorial fountain wrought around an heroic statue of the discoverer of the new world, was unveiled with a nation paying tribute. "The greatest mariner of history" was President Taft's encomium.
An imposing parade—military and civic—with thousands of men in line passed in review before the president in the grand stand at the base of the monument.
The greater part of the pageant was composed of Knights of Columbus, drawn to Washington from every section of the country to venerate their patron. As each knight passed in review he uncovered in salute to the head of the nation. Blue jackets, several battalions of marines and troops formed the first section of the parade.

Philander C. Knox, secretary of state, presided at the unveiling exercises. The Marquis Cusani Confalonieri, the Italian ambassador, was given the honor of raising the American flag which hid the statue. As the big flag was revealed a battery of United States artillery crashed out a national salute of 21 guns to the explorer.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS WILL HOLD TENT MEETING Comfortable Canvas "Church" at Corner of North Eleventh and Vermont.

The Seventh Day Adventists, with Evangelists W. A. McCutchen and E. W. Carey in charge, have begun gospel meetings in a tent at the corner of North Eleventh street and Vermont avenue. Mr. McCutchen is president of the North Texas Seventh Day Adventist conference, and Pastor Carey is evangelist of that church recently from South Carolina. Both are gentlemen of pleasing address and interesting speakers.
This cloth tabernacle or gospel tent

presents a neat appearance, is well lighted and comfortably seated with chairs and canvas seats with backs, and commodious enough for good sized audiences. The carpeted rostrum or platform with pulpit and organ and ornamented with ferns gives the whole a pleasing and almost church effect. The Bible lectures and gospel sermons given are instructive and the singing spirited and inspiring.

Preaching tonight and each night during the week at 8:30. Song service beginning fifteen minutes before, at 8:15, to which all are invited. Services last only one hour, and it is believed will be interesting and profitable to all who attend. The public cordially invited to all the services. Subject for tonight, "Prophecy and History," showing exact fulfillments of prophecy and the verification of the scriptures, and also where we are in the world's history. Are we nearing the end of time? Can we know anything about it? and what are the indications? These different phases of the question will be considered.

IS CERTAINLY A PATIENT MAN.
The thanks of the Republic are due to the Colonel for the great forbearance he exercises in not going right up to the white house and moving in.—Washington Post.

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE HOLDS REGULAR SESSION

ROUTINE MATTERS CONSIDERED. REPORT FROM DELEGATE TO STATE CONVENTION.

The Waco Real Estate Exchange held its regularly monthly meeting at the Exchange rooms in the Amicable yesterday. A. D. Adams of the Exchange Real Estate Company, was elected vice-president of the exchange, and reports of a number of committees were accepted.

The exchange by vote authorized its secretary to accept exclusive listings which may be communicated to him by phone or letter, and emphasis was laid upon the matter of pushing vigorously all properties which are so listed. The exchange derives no profit whatever from such transactions—the agent making the transfer, or doing the renting as the case may be, receiving all the commission.

C. B. McCollum, representing the one-day trade excursion committee of the Young Men's Business League, was invited to address the meeting, and gave the exchange information regarding the itineraries of the various trips contemplated, and an idea of the great good which will follow in their wake. A number of the real estate crowd signed up for Wednesday's trip, and others signified their intention of making the trips if their business permits. It is desired that everyone contemplating making the journey may sign at once, that the official program may bear their names.

The date of the regular monthly meeting of the exchange hereafter will be on the Saturday preceding the last Thursday of the month—the directors' meeting being on the latter day.

E. L. Crystal submitted a report of the Second State Realty Association's convention at Houston the past week, outlining legislation proposed, which included the enactment of a law similar to the Kansas blue-sky law, and legislation looking to the licensing of real estate agents, this last for the purpose of making these realty men accountable to the state to a degree and making it possible for a revocation of their licenses if circumstances justify such radical action. Mr. Crystal commented upon Houston's hospitality. He said:

"Twas glorious. Mayor Rice and a number of leading citizens not only met their yachts at our disposal, but accompanied us upon a trip about the bayou, and made us feel that such action was not at all exceptional; that it was a pleasure to show outsiders the beauties of their city, and to try to convert them to becoming believers in the future of Houston."

POLICE CALLED TO SCENE OF HEAVY BURGLARY
The police were called at midnight last night to the confectionery store of P. F. Kirkpatrick, 913 North Fifth street. The telephone message said burglars were trying to enter the place. When officers arrived nothing was seen of the reported house breakers or of anything missing from the store. It is believed the intruders were frightened away before they succeeded in entering.

SENATE TO LOOK INTO CUBAN PROBLEMS

MEASURE INTRODUCED TO FIND OUT AUTHORITY FOR U. S. MILITARY ACTIVITY.

Another Resolution Submitted to See If Americans Are Fomenting Trouble.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, June 8.—Cuban problems were suddenly thrust upon the senate today when measures were introduced and referred to the committee on foreign relations, one directing that committee to investigate the authority for American military operations in "any foreign nation" except under express direction of congress, and another to ascertain whether intervention in Cuba and Mexico is being fomented in this country.

The resolution regarding the question of authority was introduced by Senator Bacon and that regarding intervention activity in the United States territory by Senator Nelson. The foreign relations committee will probably consider these matters Wednesday.

The senate committee on Cuban relations so far has been unable to agree on a recommendation as to what authority should determine the necessity and the nature of intervention in Cuba.

"NOTHING DOING" WITH ARMY.

Not Believed Expeditionary Force Will Be Sent to Cuba.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, June 8.—The United States government is awaiting developments in Cuba and officials of the state, war and navy departments concur in the opinion that nothing is likely to happen within the next day or two that will involve the employment of any American forces in addition to those already landed in Cuba.

The opinion was freely expressed at the war department today that it would not be necessary to dispatch the expeditionary brigade of infantry. Evidence of this belief was found in the fact that so far no general officers have been designated for this command. The soldiers composing the brigade are ready to move instantly.

Reports today indicated that the insurgent activities were confined to petty pillaging. Nowhere have they shown their faces to the American marines.

GAINS 9 1-2 POUNDS IN 2 DAYS.

By The Associated Press.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 8.—Carl Peterman, 21 years old, a native of St. Louis and aspirant to the United States navy, broke into fame today as inventor of the latest and most up-to-date system of getting fat. In forty-eight hours that followed his advent in Minneapolis from his native burg, Peterman amassed nine and a half pounds.

"How did you do it?" he was asked.

"Oh, it was very simple," naively answered Peterman. "I just went to a hotel and slept all the time I was not eating."

LANGUAGE OF 300 WORDS.
In the more inaccessible parts of the Sierra Madre mountains in northern Mexico live a curious people called the Tarabumaris. Many of them dwell in caves, but they have also small villages, all of them about 800 feet above sea level.

The Tarabumaris are small in body, but possessed of much endurance. Their only food is maize, and they manufacture a drink called tesulu from the same cereal.

Their language is limited to about 300 words, and they cannot count beyond ten.

INGRATITUDE.

Senator La Follette was talking about an ungrateful officeholder.

"The man reminds me of Smith's dog," he said.

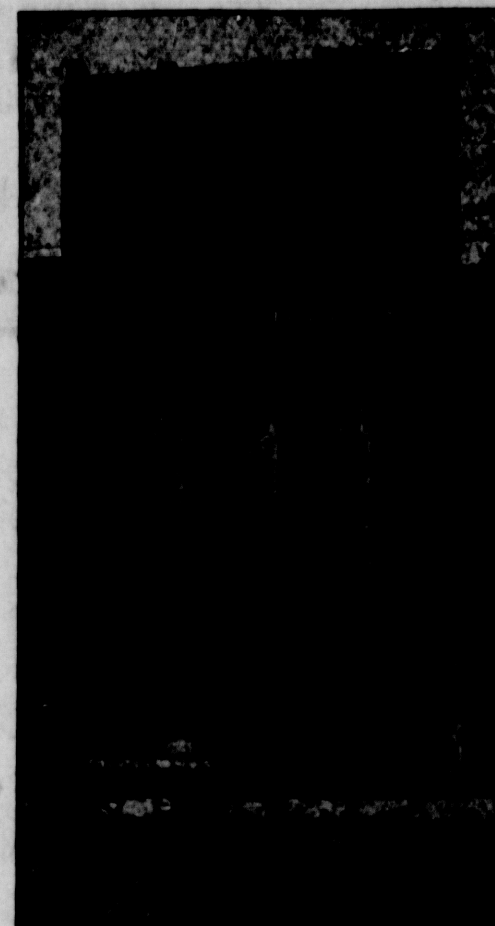

"Smith, will your dog eat out of your hand?" a friend once asked.

"Yes," Smith answered, and out of your leg, too."

Wilfrid Laurier Plays Taft For "Adjunct" Speech

Special to The Morning News.

Ottawa, Ont., June 8.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at the greatest Liberal banquet ever held in Canada, spoke late last night on reciprocity and the relief of the west. He said, "I am surprised that a man of Mr. Taft's eminence should borrow such shallow rhetoric from Canadian jingoes."

Sir Wilfrid reiterated his belief in reciprocity and said that Canada must get greater markets for the relief of the west. He said, "I am surprised that a man of Mr. Taft's eminence should borrow such shallow rhetoric from Canadian jingoes."

"The funny part of it was that it has created such a commotion in Canada," Mr. Roosevelt said. "I firmly believe in free trade with Canada, for both economic and political reasons."

"If Mr. Taft, the president of the great American republic—perhaps the mightiest nation in the world today in many respects—harbored in his mind the thought that, by making this agreement between us, he could make Canada an adjunct of the United States, I have only to tell him that Canada cannot be made an adjunct of the American republic, except with the consent of the Canadian people."

"I have to say further to Mr. Taft that the consent of the Canadian people cannot be obtained by the wealth of the United States. Whether we trade or whether we do not trade with our neighbor, Canadians we are and Canadians we shall be."

RAIN DRENCHES 300 BABIES.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, June 8.—The rain-bomb broke up a baby parade in Jersey City, and 300 babies got a severe drenching before their guardians could find shelter for them.

The parade was held under the auspices of the Jersey City, as a feature in connection with "Know Your City Week."

When the storm broke mothers and nurses grabbed their little ones and ran wildly about for shelter. Go-carts and the unroofed floats were deserted. Storekeepers along the avenue threw open their stores for the refugees, but a majority of the little ones were badly drenched.

FRIENDS OF FRANK KIPPS TENDER HIM STAG DINNER.

A number of friends of Frank Kipps tendered him a charming stag dinner at the Majestic last night. The affair was purely informal and was very enjoyable. Mr. Kipps, as has already been announced, will become a benedict within the week. To be exact, the ceremony will be performed at Marlborough, Wednesday, when Mr. Kipps and Miss Carlton, one of the most popular young women of Marlborough, are made man and wife. The friends of the popular bridegroom-to-be wished him all kinds of happiness and joy along the pathway of matrimony, and last night's banquet will no doubt be long remembered by the honored guests.

DAUGHTER TOO EXPENSIVE.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, June 8.—Declaring that his daughter's extravagance had been a constant source of annoyance to him for several years, Isaac Roseman of 3819 Third avenue, a shopkeeper, had her arraigned before Magistrate Butts in the Tombs court. He said his daughter, who is 17 years old, had a mania for fancy dresses and had gone to a wholesale dealer and ordered clothing worth $500 in his name.

Miss Roseman appeared in court in a white serge suit and large picture hat.

"My daughter is mad about pretty clothes," said her father, "and while I hate to come here as complainant against her, I feel that I am unable to control her actions."

Magistrate Butts then held Miss Roseman in $1,000 bail for the grand jury, and as she was unable to furnish bail she was locked up in the Tombs prison.

Big Increase in New Business Northwestern National Life Insurance Company Has Best May in History of Company

The Northwestern National Life and the General Agency at Waco has written a larger business during May than ever before in its history. And we are not surprised, when one remembers the very superior policy contract with lowest rates this company issues, and the exceptionally large dividends paid to its policyholders. The Northwestern National Life's policyholders are perhaps the best satisfied of any in America. They are able to adjust and readjust their policies at any time to suit the ever-changing circumstances of life, without expense to the policyholder. The very low expense of management, the precise selection of risks, taken from the healthiest portions of the country, together with their large interest rates from loans in the South, Southwest and Northwest, make it possible for the company to continue to pay exceptionally large dividends to its policyholders. And they receive all, there being no stockholders to divide up with.

Northwestern National puts up full legal reserve on its policies, and there is never any danger in the future of lack of funds to care for all obligations incurred. Hundreds of the best business men in the city and in Texas are adding to their line of insurance in this excellent old company, and speak only in terms of the highest praise of the advantage of having insurance in the Northwestern. The Geo. W. Scanlan General Agency is constantly increasing its force of salesmen, and is desirous of more A1 men. All desirous of securing THE BEST IN LIFE INSURANCE will lose money and quality of policy in not looking over Northwestern National.

GEO. W. SCANLAN, General Agent 400 1-2 Austin Street.
